THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

VOL XLII—No. 296 ATLANTA, GA., THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1910.—FOURTEEN PAGES. PRICE FIVE CENTS

TAFT IS PEEVED AND REGULARS ARE EXPLODING

Over the Blow Dealt the Payne-Aldrich Tariff by Indiana G. O. P.

TAFT CANCELS DATES TO SPEAK IN INDIANA

He Is So Disgusted That He He Will Not Enter the State. Payne, Dalzell and Other Standpatters Are Now Engaged in Reading Beveridge Out of Party.

By John Corrigan.

Washington, April 6.—(Special.)—The regular republicans or stand-patters in senate and house are disappointed and angry over the action of the Indiana state convention in declining to indorse the tariff bill and illy concealed their feelings today.

The insurgent republicans like LaFollette, Cummins, Dolliver and Clapp are entirely satisfied with it and the demand that the tariff law be "modified."

Taft Bans Indiana.

The action of the president in cancelling his speaking date in Indianapolis on May 5 is interpreted in this connection to be most significant. The president is either showing his hostility to Beveridge and the independence of the Indiana republicans who are following the lead of the Hoosier statesman, or he wishes to avoid the embarrassment of speaking in the home state of Beveridge sentiments diametrically opposed to the platform declaration.

However, no official statement is forthcoming to confirm this statement. The intimation is also given that it may be due to the fact that the president has curtailed by several days his western trip, which begins on April 29.

The president is anxious for a republican victory in Indiana, and should he speak in Indiana, he would no doubt feel compelled to express his well-known views on the new tariff law which might be interpreted adversely to Senator Beveridge. To prevent this situation, he will give Indiana a wide berth in his approaching western trip.

The president told several callers today that he did not wish to be drawn into the Indiana fight in any way.

Beveridge Is Scored.

"Beveridge has gotten himself in a hole and has tried to bridge the chasm between himself and the regular organization," said Representative Sereno Payne. "President Taft said the tariff bill is the best bill ever framed by the republican party."

"No self-respecting republican in Indiana can vote for any republican running on that platform," was the blunt comment of John Dalzell, of Pennsylvania. It is not republican." Mr. Payne characterized the charge that the tariff had increased the cost of living as "the cheapest kind of demagogy."

"A democratic senator and at least twelve democratic congressmen will be elected from Indiana this year," said Champ Clark, the democratic leader in commenting on the Indiana straddle.

MAYOR MAGEE OF GRAFT RIDDEN PITTSBURG

Pittsburg, April 6.—The hissing of Mayor William A. Magee, of Pittsburg, by a meeting of citizens called to discuss the question of why Pittsburg is famous for its dishonest officials, is being followed by a movement on the part of a number of prominent business men to start a house-cleaning from the mayor down A demand has been made in some quarters that all present officials be removed. During the investigations of the grand jury nothing has been found in the slightest way to show that Mayor Magee has been anything but an honest official, and his friends declare the hissing was the work of his political rivals.

ROBBERS LAUD THEIR CAPTORS

And Postal Thieves Also Admit Identity.

Men Who Looted Richmond Office of $86,000 So Piqued by Arrest They Congratulated Their Captors—Prisoners Are Fighting Extradition.

New York, April 6.—Those now silent individuals known to the police and federal officers as "Eddie" Fay and "'Little Dick'" Harris, charged with the recent robbery of the Richmond, Va., postoffice, in which more than $85,000 loot was obtained, were so piqued after their arrest that they could not resist congratulating their captors and admitting their identity, according to the testimony of postoffice inspectors at the arraignment of the prisoners in New York today.

Now they are indignant when referred to as Fay and Harris. The two alleged burglars virtually confessed shortly after their arrest, so the inspectors testified, and upon this the government will largely build its case to force extradition, which the prisoners are bitterly resisting. Inspectors J. C. Koons and J. B. Roberts, of Washington, were the witnesses who told of the accused men's alleged lack of legal caution.

When the prisoners' names were mentioned as "Eddie Fay" and Richard Harris, their counsel exclaimed: "We don't know any such people. My clients are Cunningham and Chester." He said they were prepared to show that these men were not the individuals the government has attempted to make them out, and intimated that he expected to prove an alibi for them.

Their removal would also be strenuously opposed, he declared.

$86,000 Stolen.

J. R. Harrison, postoffice inspector-in-chief at Washington, and the three men who traced the trunks containing plunder from Richmond to this city, were the chief witnesses for the government. Inspector Harrison testified that $86,000 in stamps, money and negotiable drafts had been stolen, of which $70,000 in stamps had been recovered.

BANKERS PAID GREAT BRIBES TO CITY FATHERS

"Men Higher Up" in the Pittsburg Graft Scandal Reached at Last.

ONE BANKER CONFESSES HE PAID BRIBE OF $20,000

And President Hoffstot, of Pressed Steel Car Company, Is Ordered Indicted for Paying Bribe of $52,500—The Bankers Wanted to Handle the Money of the City.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 6.—The climax promised in the Pittsburg graft exposures came, as promised, late today with the presentment by the grand jury of a lengthy report in which is recommended the indictment of Frank N. Hoffstot, president of the Pressed Steel Car Company, and one of the most prominent business men in the country.

Simultaneously, in open court, came a plea of Emil Winter, president of the Workingman's Savings and Trust Company, that he had no defense to make to the charge that he gave a $20,000 bribe to former Councilman Morris Einstein.

Startling Findings.

The following, in abbreviated form, are some of the most startling findings in the grand jury's presentment made public tonight:

1. That Frank N. Hoffstot, president of the Pressed Steel Car Company and president of the German National Bank of Allegheny, and prominently identified with other banks, paid to Charles Stewart, a former select councilman, the sum of $52,500.

2. That the money was a bribe used in influencing the votes of councilmen to pass an ordinance naming three banks in which Hoffstot was interested as official depositories of the city's millions.

3. That the arrangement for the payment of the money to Stewart was made in the spring of 1908, and that the late James W. Friend, at that time an official of the Pressed Steel Car Company, was an associate in the transaction.

4. That the original plan which Friend had was to obtain the service of William A. Blakeley, who was then a practicing attorney here, but who is now the district attorney in charge of the graft prosecutions, as a stakeholder of the bribe money until the ordinance had passed.

Gave Stewart $52,500.

5. That Attorney Blakeley declined to act in the capacity named, and warned all parties of the criminality of the proposition and of the liability to prosecution if it went further.

6. That subsequent to Mr. Blakeley's refusal, Messrs. Friend and Hoffstot, completed an arrangement with Stewart whereby Hoffstot would pay or cause to be paid to Stewart the sum named—$52,500.

7. That the transaction was arranged to be made in New York city, and took place there in June, 1908, in order, if possible, to avoid criminal liability in Allegheny county.

8. That Hoffstot did also solicit from one James N. Young, cashier of the Second National Bank of Pittsburg, the sum of $21,000 to be paid Stewart to insure the selection of the Second National bank as one of the favored city depositories.

9. That Stewart did demand from the now deceased Friend, who was acting as agent for the Second National Bank, a bribe for Stewart's vote in favor of the bank ordinance.

10. That in accordance with the findings, it is recommended that indictments charging conspiracy and bribery be returned.

The Accused Banks.

The banks named as ultimate principals to profit by the bribes alleged to have been paid by Hoffstot, to Stewart, are:

The Farmers' Deposit National Bank, the Second National Bank, of Pittsburg, and the German National Bank, Allegheny. In addition to these three, the Columbia National Bank, of Pittsburg; the German National Bank, of Pittsburg, and the Workingman's Savings and Trust Company, of Allegheny, were named as city depositories in the ordinance passed July 9, 1908, over the mayor's veto.

The plea of nole contendere, made by President Emil Winter, of the Workingham's Savings and Trust Company, today, was no less a sensation than the report of the grand jury. He was charged with the payment of $20,000 bribe to Morris Einstein, a former select councilman.

When Winter appeared in court Judge R. S. Frazer, who is presiding in the graft cases, asked to be excused from hearing the plea, on account of his long and intimate friendship with Mr. Winter. Winter was then taken before Judges Thomas D. Carnahan and J. M. Swearingen, and entered the formal plea. Sentence was postponed.

Falsified Books of Bank.

Just before President Winters' appearance in Judge Frazer's court, James Anderson, the general bookkeeper of the Workingham's Savings Bank and Trust Company, of Allegheny, had also pleaded nolle contendere today to a charge of falsifying the books of the bank in connection with the payment of $20,000 to Einstein. The pleas of Winter and Anderson came timely, for the district attorney said that otherwise they were to have been indicted today.

The court ordered indictments drawn against Hoffstot in accordance with the grand jury's presentment, namely, on two counts of bribery and one of conspiracy to defraud the city.

"CON" MEN GAVE DUPE $106,000 TO WIN $10,000

They Also Hired Private Car and Impersonated Party of Millionaires.

VICTIM RELIEVED OF ROLL AT JACKSONVILLE TRACK

Henry Wagner, Wealthy New York Manufacturer, Was Robbed of $10,000 After Being Guest of the Fake Millionaires and Holding $106,000 of Their Money.

New York, April 6.—For lavish stage setting, workmanlike execution, and ample financing, the story of a racing swindle, as told the police tonight by Henry Wagner, senior member of a firm of billiard table manufacturers, has no equal in the annals of the New York detective bureau.

To obtain $10,000 the confidence men entrusted their dupe with $106,000 in cash, hired a private car from Baltimore to Jacksonville, Fla., and impersonated successfully a party of millinaires, one of whom was "H. H. Rogers, Jr.," son of the late vice president of the Standard Oil Company.

Old Confidence Man.

The story came out tonight with the arrest of a man who gave his name as John Brown, 68 years old, and described himself as a broker and speculator, but who the police say is George C Rockwell, alias George C. Hammond, alias Old Joe Eaton, an old notorious confidence man. Late last month Wagner met a man representing himself to be Alfred Sanford, private secretary to a Pennsylvania millionaire, with money to spend on coal lands. Would Wagner take an option on 2,000 acres at $7 an acre? He could sell at a huge profit.

Asked Pay for His Tip.

The secretary lacked funds to finance the deal himself, but if it went through he asked only 25 per cent of his tip. A trip to Baltimore followed, where entered the "millionaires," including "H. H. Rogers, Jr.," "Colonel Moffett," of Colorado, one Palmer, and one Marshall.

From Baltimore the entire party journeyed to Jacksonville by private car—all on the "millionairess"—and at the race track there was heavy betting "between friends," in which the victime was not asked to join.

He Held $106,000.

Instead his confidence was smoothed by his being made stakeholder until at one time he held $106,000. His draft for $10,000 was obligingly cashed, and he generously loaned the money to one of the crowd to fill out a $20,000 bet. Then came the getaway.

Wagner said tonight that Brown, arrested this afternoon, took the part of Moffett. When searched by the police $2,071 in bills was found strapped around Brown's waist.

Brown was released in $1,500 bail late tonight and left headquarters protesting his innocence.

"That guy thought he was in for something soft," said Brown. "He thought he was in for some of that $106,000, and when he didn't get it, he was sore."

"DRY" MEN LOOKING TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Patton Says Nebraskan Is the Logical Leader of Prohi Forces.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 6.—Division of political affiliation of citizens of the United States between two parties—prohibition and anti-prohibition—with William J. Bryan as the logical leader of the former, was the prophecy of Robert H. Patton, former prohibition candidate for governor of Illinois, before the prohibition state convention of Indiana at Tomlinson hall tonight.

Declaring that Bryan had spoken his true sentiments in saying that the liquor question must become the issue between political parties, the speaker tended to show that such men as former Governor Folk, of Missouri, and former Governor Hanley, of Indiana, would take up the standard of the prohibition party and carry it on to ultimate victory.

JUDGE MOSES WRIGHT TALKS OF AGREEMENT

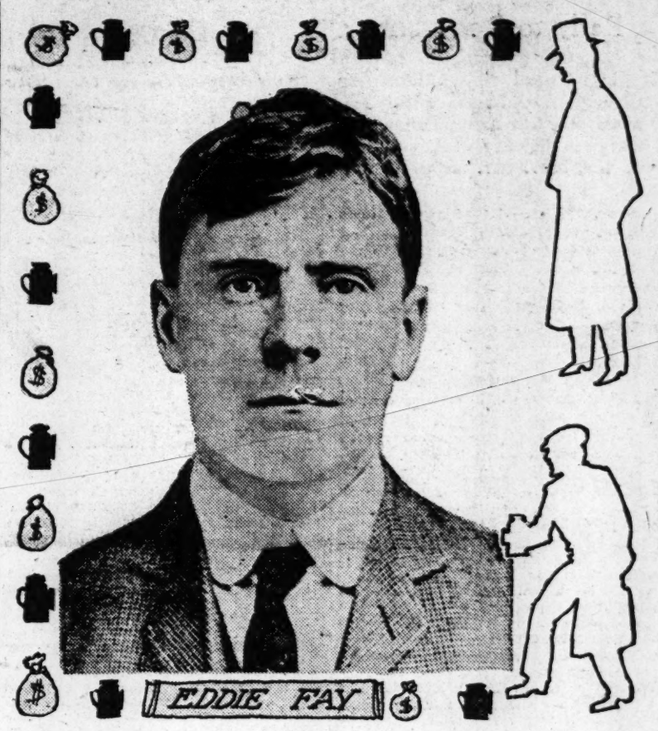
In Speech He Stated There Was Nothing Between Him and Lee.

Rome, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Judge Moses Wright returned today from Dalton, where he addressed the voters of Whitfield county at the courthouse on Tuesday. He was much pleased with the size of his audience.

During the course of his speech he referred to the charge made through a newspaper that he and Gordon Lee had arranged the congressional succession by secret or caucus agreement, held a few years ago. In speaking of the matter, Judge Wright said:

"Neither Mr. Lee nor myself up to this time have done anything which high-toned gentlemen might not have done. If Mr. Lee announces for congress I will give the people in detail everything that has occurred between us in reference to the congressional situation, and have my statement vouched for by one or more of as good men as there are in Rome."

EDDIE FAY, MOST FAMOUS BURGLAR, WHO EVER WORKED UNITED STATES



The police world is breathing a bit easier since the arrest of Eddie Fay, known to the underworld as the "millionaire burglar." Fay was arrested after a sensational fight in New York for robbing the postoffice of Richmond, Va., of more than $80,000 in stamps and money. He has long lived a dual life, and the police declare he has more than $300,000 in cash hidden in various safety deposit boxes throughout the county. Fay has served time in various prisons, but so far no lock or key has been strong enough to hold him, as he has always managed to escape. His favorite pastime is to pose as an English banker and to wear the most expensive English clothing, his evening suits being a model of perfection. When Fay was arrested in New York while trying to make away with his trunks containing the stolen stamps he was taken to the Tombs, and then an effort was made to secure a photograph of him. For three hours a sensational fight followed, and in the end the police were beaten, as Fay could not be held still long enough to get a picture. The only photograph ever taken of him was secured by the Pinkerton Detective Agency, and this picture is being sent to every police chief in the country. Fay has been placed under $20,000 bonds, which he agreed to furnish, but the district attorney's office, acting in conjunction with the postoffice officials, is ready to raise his bond to $50,000. Fay declares he will fight a legal battle that will keep the police busy for a long time when his case comes to trial.

PEOPLE TIRED OF MACHINES

So Victory of Milwaukee Socialists Is Explained.

Congressman Carey Says Result Is Protest Against Both Republicans and Democrats. Wisconsin May Send Socialists to Congress.

Washington, April 6.—The election of a socialist mayor in Milwaukee by a plurality almost unprecedented in that city, was the subject of much comment among members of congress today, especially those from Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin representatives view it as momentous. One of the most prominent of these, forbidding quotation by name, went so far as to say that the election of the socialist mayor "might mean the election of two socialist congressmen from Wisconsin this fall."

Revolt Against Corporations.

Representative Morse, "insurgent," republican from the Tenth Wisconsin district, declared that the socialist victory in Milwaukee indicated a revolt against the "corporation domination and control of the eastern wing of the republican party and a lack of faith in democratic professions."

"The result indicates that there is a deep feeling of unrest over present political conditions," said Mr. Morse.

"The people in Milwaukee voted a protest against the control of the republican party by the eastern wing of it which they know is dominated by 'business interests' in the interest of trusts and combinations. The voters refused to turn to the democratic party.

"The socialists are gaining strength rapidly, not only in Milwaukee, but also in my district, and elsewhere in the state. They have the best political organization I have ever seen."

Protest Against Machines.

Representative Carey, republican, of Wisconsin, said the result was a protest against both republican and democratic machines.

"These machines can't combine and fool the people any longer," he said. "The people have stood for it as long as they will. The fight in Milwaukee, however, was a local one."

Big Farm Bought.

Waycross, Ga., April 6.—(Special.) The nucleus of a stock farm, whose present intent is to raise fine or blooded stock for the market there was bought 1,000 acres of land and 200 head of cattle. The land lies near the south side of the city and was bought by Messrs. Lewis and Myers.

WIDOW AIDS MAN WHO SLEW SPOUSE

Mrs. Sayler Tells of Tragedy in Her Home.

Woman Says That Dr. Miller Killed Her Husband in Self Defense—She Wept As She Told of the Killing of Her Husband.

Watseka, Ill., April 6.—Mrs. Lucy Sayler, from the witness stand, today told her story of the killing of her husband, J. B. Sayler, of Crescent City, Ill., last July.

She, with her father, John Grunden, and Dr. W. R. Miller, is charged with the murder of her husband and her testimony was in almost absolute accord with that of Dr. Miller, who declared he shot J. B. Sayler in self-defene.

Her testimony touched on the financial condition of her husband and the trivial incidents of the Sunday which went before the night of the shooting. She told of seeing the axe brandished in her husband's hand as he rushed on Dr. Miller and of seeing it again on the floor near the body. Tears filled her eyes and she wept while telling of seeing her slain husband, prone in the parlor of their home. The actual struggle, which ended with the quick pistol shots, she said she did not see.

After Mrs. Sayler left the stand, the case swung back to the broadaxe or hatchet, on which so much of the testimony hinges and which is considered vital to the plea of self-defense.

Witness after witness for the state has declared that the hand axe was not in the room with the body shortly after the killing, but was seen there much later in the night, lying on a blood-stained paper.

To counterbalance this testimony counsel for the defense took a novel course and introduced a number of blood-spotted pieces of paper obtained in experiments made to determine the time required to dry human blood dropped from a height of three or four feet upon a paper or carpet.

Obscene Literature.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—(Special.)—Arthur Dancer, a Tuskegee negro, is in the toils of Uncle Sam on a charge of sending obscene literature through the mails. The charge is a novel one, in that it is alleged that Dancer supplemented photographs in a Police Gazette by means of pencil drawings. The offense was committed last November, the defendant just being caught up with. He has been sent to jail to await trial, through inability to make the required bond.

JEKYL AND HYDE BY FOUL MURDER LOSES HIS MASK

Burglar Who Terrorized Springfield Proves to Be Business Man.

MURDER OF A WOMAN CLIMAX OF HIS CAREER

Bertram Spencer Confesses That He Had Mania for Stealing Which Resulted in Lifelong Career of Crime, Finally Ending in Murder. Stevenson's Story Duplicated.

Springfield, Mass., April 6.—Laying his crime to love of excitement and a mania for stealing caused by an injury to his head in boyhood, Bertram Gage Spencer, the dry goods clerk, today broke down under 24 hours of merciless grilling and confessed that he was the masked burglar who had terrorized Springfield for two years and had reached the climax of his wild career by murdering Miss Martha B. Blackstone last Thursday evening.

In his amazing confession, although many of the details are being withheld until the trial, Spencer makes it clear that associated with his overpowering desire to steal were an intense love of excitement and a high degree of personal vanity. This latter trait Spencer gratified by baffling the police and reading the newspaper reports of his exploits. The accounts of his daring crimes fascinated him and fostered his egotism. The police declare he is a morphine fiend.

Stole to Dress Wife.

An element approaching the romantic entered into Spencer's crimes, for, coupled with his other motives, was a desire to secure money wherewith to purchase furnishings for his home in West Springfield, thus furnishing a handsome setting for his young and pretty wife, for whom he bore a strong affection.

While admitting the killing of Miss Blackstone, Spencer said he did not intend to shoot her, but had lost control of himself when she repeatedly shrieked. Even then, he asserted, he had fired only to frighten her and the three other women who confronted him in the Dow house.

Spencer was arraigned in the police court and was held without bail for further hearing April 15.

Spencer told the police he had experienced no qualms of conscience as a result of his crimes. The only thing that caused him any worry was the loss of a locket bearing his initials. This was found outside a house which he had entered, and through it his arrest was brought about.

Almost Lifelong Crime.

In his confession Spencer revealed a career of almost lifelong crime. Following a blow on the head while he was a small boy in Lebanon, Conn., his native town, he said he began to steal. At the age of nine he rifled the pockets of his schoolmates and robbed his parents of small sums. Later, while still a youth, he held up young women on the highways and entered houses. He spent some time on a naval training ship and then traveled about the country, his thefts covering a wide range of territory. By engaging in legitimate occupations by day, he always escaped suspicion, and was considered a good citizen.

"SALVATION GERTIE" SUES FOR A DIVORCE

As an aftermath of the troublous times experienced by the American Salvation Army in attempting to operate in Atlanta, and which culminated in the withdrawal of its permit by Mayor Maddox on March 5, comes an application for divorce, which was filed in the Fulton superior court yesterday by Adjutant "Gertie" Morrison, of the army, against her husband, Adjutant William Morrison.

The suit for divorce was filed by Attorney Lawton Nally, representing Mrs. Morrison.

Adjutant Morrison, or "Salvation Gertie," as she is better known throughout the city, has been a familiar figure in Atlanta since the American Salvation Army began its operations in Atlanta several years ago, and she has been recognized as the leader of this new branch of Salvation Army work in this city. She and her husband worked together in the interest of the army until it was denied operation in this city by the order of the mayor.

Trouble Soon Began.

From the terms of the petition, which was drawn by Attorney Nally, it appears that the troubles of Mrs. Morrison and her husband began shortly after they were married.

Among the allegations which she brings against him are the following:

That she and the defendant intermarried in Atlanta on February 21, 1909, in Fulton county, and lived together as man and wife until March 30, 1910.

That she and the defendant met as coworkers and as adjutants in the American Salvation Army;

That at the time of the meeting and at the time of the marriage, she conducted a "Home for the Working Girls" of Atlanta, at 1 East Fair street, said home being run as an adjunct to the work being done in this city by the American Salvation Army;

That soon after petitioner and the defendant were married, defendant began cursing and abusing her in the presence of the inmates of the home and in the presence of her children by a former marriage, and that he "called her vile and vulgar names, too indecent to appear in print."

"Cursed and Abused Her."

Mrs. Morrison further alleges that she found it impossible to live with her husband in peace; "that he abused her frequently; that he would not contribute to her support or the support of the home for working girls, which she conducted, and that, finally, on the night of March 30, when they separated, he "came home late at night, was in a bad humor, cursed and abused petitioner in the presence of her children and in the presence of said boarding girls, and threatened to kill petitioner, and that he seized a razor from the mantelpiece and threatened to kill petitioner by slashing her in the throat."

Mrs. Morrison alleges that her escape from death on this occasion was due to the fact that she ran into the street when she was attacked.

May Use "Guise of Love."

She further alleges in her petition that she still fears bodily harm from her husband and that "he will take her unawares or off her guard under the guise of love and friendship."

In her petition for divorce Mrs. Morrison asks that the court give her permanent and temporary allmony in any sum that may seem adequate to the court.

Since the permit to operate in this city was denied the American Salvation Army by Mayor Maddox, the home which was formerly conducted for the benefit of working girls in this city has been closed at 1 East Fair street, and Mrs. Morrison is now making her home at 167 Central avenue. Mr. Morrison is a carpenter by profession and is working at his trade.

DRUNKEN CHILDREN STAGGER IN THE SCHOOLS OF NEW YORK

Philadelphia, April 6.—That the number of school children in New York city who appeared "under the influence of beer and wine was startling" and that "almost every school in the city furnished examples of children suffering from the effects of alcohol," was declared by Dr. T. A. McNicholl, surgeon of the Red Cross Hospital of New York, in a paper read tonight before the American Society for the study of alcohol and other drug narcotics.

A two days' session of the society opened here today with prominent physicians from many sections of the country in attendance.

Dr. K. H. Kress, of Washington, D. C., declared that more than twice as much money is spent annually on tobacco than is spent for education. The increasing prevalence of the cigarette habit among girls and women, he said, is resulting in the gradual decay of the human race.

ARTISTIC CHECK PROVED WORTHLESS

Rome Hotel Man Is Bailey's Victim.

Said to Be Same Man Who Worked Game on Atlanta Hotel---His Scheme Worked Well.

Rome, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—An artistic but worthless check for $79, in the hands of Frank Freeman, of the Third Avenue hotel, represents his experience with a man who is believed to be one of the cleverest hotel swindlers in the south. He registered here as O. N. Bailey and under the same name and with the same game he is alleged to have defrauded the Read House at Chattanooga, the Piedmont hotel in Atlanta and the Huntsville hotel at Huntsville, Ala.

The man came to the Third avenue on the night of March 22, and was assigned to one of the best rooms in the house with bath. He left a check at the hotel desk, requesting that it be cashed. The check bore every appearance of being genuine. It was numbered on a numbering machine, dated March 19 with a stamp and bore printed at the signature line the name, "Incandescent Supply Co., by..... Treasurer.' It was signed "George C. Ewing. Mr. Freeman looked up the rating of the Incandescent Supply Company and found it to be of the highest class.

He cashed the check and gave the visitor a receipted bill for $10 and $69 in cash. The check was drawn on the Columbia bank of New York and came back a few days later marked, "No account." Mr. Freeman communicated with the "Incandescent Supply Company," and they replied they did not know Bailey, and he was not in their employ. He has received letters from various other hotel men stating that they had been defrauded in a similar manner, under the same name, with checks of exactly similar amounts.

CONGRESSMAN BELL TALKS OF CANNONISM

Duties During Late Fight Arduous—Won Plaudits of Minority.

Gainesville, Ga., April 6.—(Special.) Congressman Thomas M. Bell, of the Ninth district, is at home on a ten days' leave of absence. He talks interestingly of the recent fight in congress over the changing of rules of the house and the taking away from Speaker Cannon of his right to appoint the rules committee. Mr. Bell is the democratic whip of the house, and his duties during the fight were arduous in the extreme. He stuck to his post of duty through it all, and won the plaudits of his fellow-minority members by his skillful method of handling a difficult situation.

Mr. Bell is secretary of the democratic national campaign committee, and is also a member of the finance committee. He is very enthusiastic over the prospects for success of the democratic party in the elections to be held in November. He states that the party will have the best and most compact organization it ever has had, and that there will be no let-up in the fight until the national house is in control of the democratic party.

Mr. Bell will take the stump in the Tenth Illinois district, with which he is perfectly familiar, and where he is personally known.

The republicans, states Mr. Bell, appear to be unusually gloomy over the outlook and seem to consider democratic success as sure to come.

Capt. Baughn to Resign.

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Captain R. W. Baughn, commander of the German Volunteers, First regiment, probably will soon resign his command. This announcement comes as a surprise to members of the company. Captain Baughn will be succeeded by First Lieutenant G. D. Semken.

Alleged Forger Arrested.

Waycross, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Jasper C. Kirke is in jail on a charge of forgery.

He came here some time back and became active, and today the arrest was made.

Since the arrest there is a rumor to the effect that he is a cured patient from an insane asylum.

RAPS FOR TIPPLE AND FOR DEL VAL

Catholics and Methodists Rally to Roosevelt.

It Is Urged That Neither Church Should Be Held Responsible for Intolerance of Cardinal Merry Del Val and of the Rev. Mr. Tipple.

Rome, April 6.—Before leaving Rome tonight, ex-President Roosevelt had reason to believe that a great triumph was his, because both the attitude of the vatican towards him and the statement of the Methodists, which he had condemned, were repudiated by the leading adherents of these two institutions.

Merry Del Val Condemned.

Abbott Lawrence Janssens, one of the most learned Benedictines, and secretary of the congregation of the affairs of religion, called on Mr. Roosevelt this evening and, not finding him, left his card, on which he wrote in French that he desired to congratulate him for the constant support given to his order and the Catholic church in general in America during Mr. Roosevelt's "glorious career" as president, which he hoped would soon be resumed.

Contemporaenously, Mr. Roosevelt received letters from relatives of high prelates and cardinals, condemning what they styled "the personal attitude of Cardinal Merry del Val, for which neither the pope nor the Catholic church was responsible."

Methodist Don't Approve Tipple.

Mr. Roosevelt received the following letter from Dr. Walling Clark, head of the Methodist organization in Italy:

"The incident connected with the article written by the Rev. B. M. Tipple for the American press has caused me untold regret. Let me assure you that the Methodists of Rome were not responsible for the article. Allow me once more to express my admiration for the courageous position you have taken in the face of the demands of the vatican. The Methodists of Rome will not forget it."

A dinner was given Mr. Roosevelt's honor tonight in the great hall of the historic Capitoline palace by the municipal authorities, over which Mayor Nathan presided.

Hebrew Mayor Lauds Roosevelt.

Mayor Nathan, in proposing the health of the ex-president, referred to him as one "whose character and work had an effect upon the civil progress of humanity."

After mentioning Washington and Lincoln, as respectively the founder and consolidator of the republic, he characterized Mr. Roosevelt as a "purifier," saying that he had hunted fiercer beasts than during his recent trip in Africa.

"Men of his calibre," said the mayor, "are beyond the limits of country. They belong by right to civilization." He concluded with an apostrophe to Mr. Roosevelt, "as the fighting philosopher," who is preaching the word of purity, goodness and duty to his people, and he compared the ex-president to Marcus Aurelius.

Roosevelt on Rome.

Mr. Roosevelt, in replying, declared that no civilized man could come to Rome without feeling that he was visiting the cradle of civilization. After expressing deep appreciation for the hospitality extended to him here, he spoke of political life, which, he said, was not so much a matter of genius as of the practical application of the very ordinary qualities of courage, honesty and common sense, and the rarest of these, he added, is common sense

"Beware of the man who does not translate his words into deeds," said the ex-president. He announced he was an optimist with regard to the future.

The ex-president and Mrs. Roosevelt left for Spezzia at 11:45 tonight. Several hundred persons gathered around the train and took part in an enthusiastic demonstration.

Vatican Is Explaining.

The vatican today made further representations regarding the cancellation of the audience, insisting especially that Cardinal Merry del Val's sole purpose was to avoid, if possible, a repetition of the Fairbanks incident, in the belief that he could have been justly criticised if a repetition of this had occurred and no previous warning had been issued.

SPURGEON SURRENDERS TO SHERIFF BROACH

Man Who Killed James Raney Now Rests in Floyd Jail.

Rome, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—W. D. Spurgeon, who today stabbed and mortally wounded James Haney, a mill foreman, tonight surrendered to Sheriff Broach after having been hidden all day in a ditch near town. Pangs of conscience and hunger drove him to his home late tonight. He communicated with the officers by telephone and promptly surrendered. He was placed in the county jail. He pleads self-defense in justification of his deed.

Haney was a foreman in the Anchor Duck mills. The men engaged in a difficulty, it is stated, over a matter of 10 cents a day in the wages of Spurgeon's wife. It appears that Haney owed Spurgeon $25. It is stated instead of paying regular interest, Haney agreed to pay Mrs. Spurgeon, who also worked in the mill, 10 cents a day really more than she earned. The mill authorities stopped this, and fearing trouble, Haney discharged Mrs. Spurgeon. Spurgeon accosted Haney today and a fight followed, in which Spurgeon was worsted. Later he appeared with a knife and stabbed the foreman in the groin. The wound proved fatal, the man dying in a few minutes. Spurgeon then walked home with his wife, but when officers went to his house they found the man had gone.

RESIDENCE BURNS IN QUICK TIME

Flames attacked the residence of Eugene Mozely, at 60 Simpson street, last night at 11 o'clock and burned it to the ground before the fire department could render any material aid.

The fire was discovered by a passerby. When first seen the entire roof was in flames, but the family was warned in time to escape to safety. How the fire started is a mystery. Mr. Mozely states that there was no fire built in the house during the entire day, though on account of the chilliness they started one several times. In the house, at the time the fire was discovered, was Mr. and Mrs. Mozely, their child and a boarder.

SOCIAL STATUS NEEDS RIGHTING

Says Robt. C. Ogden Before Educators.

Declares That Outlook for Political and Social Affairs in America Is at Present Ominous—One Thousand Delegates Attend Conference.

By Isma Dooly.

Little Rock, Ark., April 6.—(Special.)—At the opening session of the conference for education in the south, the program to cover every phase of agricultural education, the feature of the program following the address of President Robert C. Ogden was the address of Dr. L. D. Harvey, president of the Home-Makers' School of Stout Institute, Menominie, Wis.

"The Home-Makers' School," President Harvey stated, "was established for the purpose of working out the practical education of young women to fit them for responsibilities of home life. The problem, as briefly stated, is a determination of the things which woman needs to know and to do in the discharge of these responsibilities, and to make adequate preparation for training her to know and to do such of these things well.

Educational Purpose.

"While it is the purpose to furnish these facilities to those who wish this training, there is another distinct educational purpose and that is to secure a formulation, more definite than has ever yet been organized, of what should be the subject matter of instruction in the various lines of woman's activities in the home, and to furnish evidence of what may be accomplished through definite instruction along these lines.

"The last purpose, if it can be worked out, will in time furnish very much more satisfactory data and material for the organization of courses of instruction to meet the special needs of girls in the public schools.

"The course of study covered in the school includes plain sewing, millinery, drawing and design, psychology and hygiene, emergencies and home nursery, food study, cooking, chemistry literature, English physical training, the second year's course, dressmaking, art, needlework, textiles, house decoration, furnishing, bacteriology, care of children, dietetics, household management, literature, home and social economies, physical training. Under these heads come every phase of activity related to woman in her relation to the home, the coveted knowledge which should be the possession of all women in common, whether in the palace of the multi-millionaire or in the little home in the rural community."

1,000 Delegates Present.

Approximately a thousand delegates, southern educators and men prominent in the cause of education, attended the opening session tonight of the thirteenth annual conference for education in the south. The opening session was devoted principally to the address of President Robert C. Ogden, of New York, who took rather a gloomy view of present social and political conditions, urging the educating of the masses as a logical remedy, and an address by Dr. Wyckliffe Rose, of Washington, who outlined the purposes and plans of the movement. Mr. Ogden spoke in part as follows:

"The outlook for social and political affairs in this country is at present ominous. It would be easy to make statements of conditions morbid enough to suit the version of the deepest dyed pessimist. They appear on every side and while they are in the first instance social, they are civic as well. Prominent among these issues are questions of employer and employee, the right of property, the rights of labor, the duties of intelligence to ignorance, of race to race, responsibilities to the unfortunate, the blind, the deaf, the insane, the criminal. But there is a remedy that is quite within our grasp and it is to be found in an enlightened, wise, conscientious and honest citizenship—in standards of civic duty and responsibility—that will lead each man and each woman to seek the line of duty. Such seeking will find the line and it will lead straight into the public school. Given the intelligent desire and the way will appear by which that duty may be done."

After tracing briefly the origin and growth of the conference for education in the south, President Ogden declared that its purpose was not to attempt to direct the technical side of education, but to inspire the public mind with a sense of intelligent responsibility of public education, the creation of a public opinion in favor of taxation for education, though with an idea far above and beyond taxation.

"The ultimate thought," he said, "is the inspiration that will lead the people that are prosperous to support wisely directly education by free will offerings in proportion as prosperity has made them trustees for the commonwealth.

"This question of civic responsibility for public education is very serious. Its importance can not be overstated nor its duties exaggerated. The obligations of the citizen are personal, they are both ethical and legal; they touch life at every point, the home, society, the church, the state."

Dr. Rose explained that the greater part of the program for the coming year would be devoted to agricultural education. He declared that public thought and attention is now turning toward the country and argued that as the economic trend is in that direction the educational trend should follow in the same direction. "How to train the country people, how to advance the rural schools, the agricultural schools, the state departments of agriculture and the state and county fairs, all of which are important in the advancement of the country, are the important questions," declared Dr. Rose.

A brief business session devoted to the appointment of committees and routine preliminary to the formal opening of the conference, preceded tonight's meeting.

The delegates were welcomed by Governor Donaghey.

ATLANTA METHODISTS WANT NEXT GENERAL CONFERENCE

At a meeting held last night in the Wesley Memorial church the Atlanta Methodist Stewards' Association unanimously adopted a resolution proposed by Jos. A. McCord to make every possible effort to bring the meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in 1914, to Atlanta.

The next general conference is to be held at Asheville, N. C., in May. In order to get Atlanta's name before the committee to choose the meeting place for 1914 the resolution provides that the presiding elder of the district appoint a committee to go to the general conference and endeavor to get the conference to meet here. This committee, which was appointed after the resolution was passed, is as follows: Jos. A. McCord, Asa G. Candler, W. A. Foster, Rev. J. S. French and Rev. Frank Siler.

Resolution Passed.

The resolution passed is as follows:

"Whereas, at the approaching session of the general conference of our church to be held at Asheville, N. C., during May, a committee will be raised whose duty it will be to arrange for the next session of the general conference to be held in May, 1914; and, whereas, no place seems so suitable for holding such a conference as Atlanta, central to the territory involved, and with ample accommodations for all who would attend;

"Be it resolved by the Stewards' Association of the Atlanta district, That the presiding elder of the district be requested to appoint a committee of five, consisting of two ministers and three laymen, to bring this matter to the attention of the committee of the general conference as soon as it is prepared to receive invitations for the conference of 1914.

"Be it further resolved, That we request the delegates from the North and South Georgia conferences, who shall be present at the general conference at Asheville, to do what they properly can looking to the appointment of such a committee from the general conference as will favorably consider the claims of Atlanta in this connection."

Should Atlanta be able to obtain the conference for 1914 it will mean that hundreds of Methodists from all over the southern states will be here to attend the session. The members of the committee intend to make a vigorous pull for Atlanta, and they will in all probability win out.

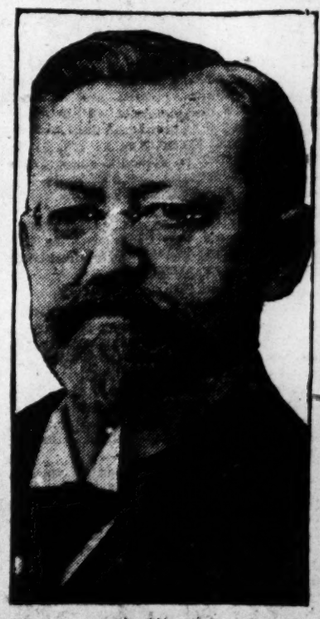
DISEASES OF MEN



If I have some decided and original views on these diseases it is because I have been continuously in the work for 33 years, and for 25 years have devoted my whole time to these difficult and delicate cases.

I believe that many cases of Stricture may be cured with less harsh treatment than they often receive. I believe this because I have demonstrated it again and again.

I believe that Syphilis needs not only the proper remedies, but careful, intelligent methods and attention to detail in order to cure and cure permanently.

I believe that Chronic Gonorrhoea causes more physical wrecks than any other disease. I believe this because I know. I believe that nothing needs more scientific methods in order to cure, and the man who suffers from it knows, too, that I am right.

I believe in straightforward advertising and honest business methods, combined with conscientious treatment, and if you are in need of advice I will take pleasure in examining you free of charge.

CARDINAL GIBBONS AT WHITE HOUSE

But the Roosevelt-Vatican Clash Was Not Discussed.

Washington, April 6.—Cardinal Gibbons called unexpectedly at the white house late today, and it was said he had been sent for by President Taft. After he had been with the president for fifteen minutes or more, the cardinal emerged from the executive offices and was accosted by a party of newspaper men.

"My call," he said, "had nothing to do with the incident at Rome. The incident was casually mentioned. The president expressed his regret and I expressed mine. It was matter of mutual regret. But I assure you, gentlemen, the mention of the incident was casual. Good day."

WILL GIVE CONCERT AT EPWORTH CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Florine McEachern Brigade, the Jennings Juvenile Quartette will give a concert at the Epworth Methodist church at 8 o'clock Friday night. All of the members of this quartette are under 15 years of age, the youngest being only 7. An admission fee of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children will be charged, the proceeds of which will be devoted to church work.

FIRST MEETING IN NEW CHURCH

Wesley Memorial Is Formally Opened.

Auditorium Was Crowded With Women at the Initial Session—An Auxiliary for Wesley Memorial Hospital Organized by Those Present.

The formal opening of the beautiful new Wesley Memorial church was marked yesterday by a large and interested gathering of women, who inaugurated the history of the new church by the establishment of a new enterprise—a Woman's Auxiliary to the Wesley Memorial hospital. Over a hundred charter members have been enrolled, officers have been chosen for provisional service until a regular and full meeting of the organization, and the movement has been started most auspiciously.

Auditorium Crowded.

The spacious and beautiful auditorium was crowded with women, and when the chairman of the meeting and George N. McDonald, superintendent of the hospital, stated the need for additional help in providing for the needs of the hospital the women responded enthusiastically.

A constitution was read, stating that the purposes of the new auxiliary are to cooperate with the trustees of the hospital with particular reference to supplying all household needs of the institution, in order that as much money as possible may be diverted to the charity work of the hospital; and to keep the hospital before the Methodist women of the state.

All Methodist women are eligible to membership in the auxiliary, and the dues will be $2 per annum, payable quarterly. Hospital committees consisting of three members, will be appointed by the pastors in each church.

There will be a children's department, and all funds received through the children will be used in the maintenance of the children's ward. Mrs. Florence C. Harris will have charge of this department.

This movement started several weeks ago, when a number of earnest women met at the home of Mrs. E. P. Chamberlin, at which time the following names were received: Mrs. Frank Siler, Mrs. C. T. Turner, Mrs. Rogers Williams, Mrs. George C. Thompson, Miss Olvi Robertson, Miss Vertna Conway, Mrs. U. A. Robertson, Miss Corrie Ozmer, Mrs. F. J. Robertson, Mrs. R. B. Thomas, Mrs. T. C. Conway, Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. W. A. Albright, Mrs. John A. Miller, Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, Mrs. Brevard Montgomery and others.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, which convened this week in Gainesville, over sixty names were secured, and all those with those who joined Wednesday, are among the charter members.

Officers of Auxiliary.

The officers of the auxiliary will consist of a president, eleven vice presidents, two secretaries and a treasurer. Five of the vice presdrens will be from the south Georgia conference and six from the north Georgia, the sixth one to be a non-resident of the Atlanta district. A governing board of directors will direct the work of the auxiliary.

The following ladies were chosen as the Atlanta officers; Mrs. John A. Miller, first vice president and acting president until that officer be chosen; Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. T. P. Westmoreland, Mrs. J. H. Raine and Mrs. Florence C. Harris, vice presidents, in the order of their naming; the sixth vice president remains unselected; recording secretary, Miss Edith Thompson; financial secretary, Mrs. J. H. Bradfield; treasurer, Mrs. Brevard Montgomery.

The auxiliary will hold quarterly meetings.

The first part of the program was devoted to discussions of home and foreign mission work with interesting talks from the district secretaries. Two solos, one by Mrs. Arthur Creviston and one by James C. Wardwell, added to the interest of the services.

Night Meeting.

Many interesting speeches were made at the meeting of the Atlanta Stewards' Association, held last night in the new Wesley Memorial church. The association also reelected the same officers for the ensuing year and adopted resolutions appointing a committee to take steps to get the general conference of the M. E. Church, South, for Atlanta in 1914.

Dr. J. C. White, president of the association, presided and Asa G. Candler made the welcoming address. The other speakers of the evening were Judge W. R. Hammond, W. S. Mansfield, M. M. Davies, Hon. George M. Napier, W. H. Thompson and Hon. J. L. Mayson

The officers of the association were commended for their good work in the past year and were reelected, as follows: Dr. J. C. White, president; Joseph A. McCord, vice president; E. F. Childress, secretary and treasurer.

Judge Hammond's Address.

Judge Hammond's address was on "The City as a Religious Problem." It was as follows:

"No more intricate and difficult problem presents itself to the religious thought of today than the question as to the best way to meet the conditions of modern city life. The tendency in city life is toward the development of abnormal activity in all directions, and this militates against the development of religious thought, because this requires a gentle, quiet, reflective, meditative attitude of mind, which seems to be unattainable to the man who is abnormally busy and active. In fact, he who leads a strenuous life is inclined to look with contempt upon his sweeter-spirited, though less active and stalwart neighbor. He doesn't consider that he himself is abnormal and needs to remove a serious obstruction from his own visual organ.

The Good Man.

"David was a man of splendid spiritual susceptibilities, and we find him frequently in a meditative mood. The good man is represented by him as not only not walking in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standing in the way of sinners, nor sitting in the seat of the scornful, but as meditating in God's law, day and night, and thus coming to be like a tree planted by the rivers of water that bringeth forth his fruit in his season. We see him gazing meditatively into the heavens, and finding there an evident manifestation of the glory of God; and then falling into one of the sublimest utterances concerning the perfections of God's law that ever fell from mortal lips or pen.

"Renan, the greatest French Biblical scholar and critical thinker, says that no man of action ever was an artist. This utterance contains a profound philosophic truth of broad and comprehensive application. The deeper perceptive faculties of the soul are jarred into insensibility by the abnormal activities which manifest themselves in what we call the strenuous life; and he who suffers himself to be drawn into the whirlpool of that kind of existence must submit to the loss of the soul faculty that enables him to perceive the beatific vision of the third heaven.

"It is true that men of action need not submit to that loss, but, alas, how often do we find that in point of fact they become blunted to the deeper and finer susceptibilities of the soul.

"David and Paul were men of action; but they were also men of profound meditative and reflective powers, and the truly wise man, even though he be gifted with an abnormally energetic temperament, will follow their example in this regard, and take time and give opportunity for the development of those high spiritual faculties which can never come as the result of any process of forcing or strenuous effort, but only as the gradual unfolding and growth of the quiet and restful seasons of life.

Problem in a City.

"The religious problem in a city is the problem of getting men to be still long enough to come under religious influence. That every man has within him the religious instinct of capability is certain; but this instinct or faculty is delicate and sensitive, and is not capable of development and growth except under favorable conditions. The way to grow an orange is to find a sub-tropical soil and climate, and give the delicate plant its opportunity under those favoring conditions. It will then grow and revel and flourish. The delicate perfume of its blossoms will burden the atmosphere with sweetness, and in due season the luscious fruit will come to perfection and gladden the eye and heart of the privileged beholders. But these results can only take place under proper conditions, and never in any other way; and the same thing is true in regard to the growth and development of the delicate and sensitive thing we call the religious instinct of the human heart. Alas, it shrivels and withers and dies if it is hustled and crowded and choked. It cannot bring forth its fruit to perfection under these adverse conditions. Men must be brought to pause, and turn themselves toward the sun of righteousness, so that its beams will fall upon them, and its beneficent influences will have opportunity to permeate through and through them. To induce them to pause and turn is the religious problem of the city."

Vineville to Have Sewers.

Macon, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The specifications for the Vineville sewers have been arranged by City Engineer Anderson and at last night's session of the city council plans were made to have the work pushed. The contractors will now be given an opportunity to put in the bids on the work and when the bonds are sold, little will be left to delay the big task. More than $80,000 will be spent on the system in this new territory alone.

OILING PEACHTREE ROAD

By Francis E. Price, Staff Photograph her.

Peachtree road and Fifteenth street. It is recommended to oil road from this place to the city limits.

The matter of oiling Peachtree road, from Fifteenth street to the city limits, in order to allay the dust, was yesterday placed before the board of county commissioners by the residents on the street, with the result that it was referred to the public works committee with power to act.

C. T. Ladson, representing the property owners, stated to the board that the condition of the road was such that a person could not in safety cross from one side to the other on account of the extreme density of the dust clouds. More than 1,000 automobiles passed each day. This not only made life intolerable to those who cared to sit on their front porches in the evenings, but also injured furniture and was a direct contributor to a number of diseases, Mr. Ladson declared. He said the matter had been referred to the city council, who had appropriated $1,000 for the work. The matter was now up to the county board to be pushed along.

Commissioner Forrest Adair said the board now had its hands full and could not take up this work at any time in the near future, but that the city could. This was supplemented by Chairman E. V. Carter, who stated that the county had neither the labor nor the means of securing such immediately, because of work being done on the reservoir, the tuberculosis hospital and others things.

"Why, the dust on Peachtree road will cause more tuberculosis in six months than the county can cure in twenty-five years," rejoined Mr. Ladson.

The proposition of the Indian Refining Company was then reread. The substance of it was to the effect that liquid asphalting could be laid from Fifteenth street to the city limts at the cost of 4 cents a surface yard.

It was suggested by Eugene Black, another of the residents, that the thousand dollars appropriated be applied to the immediate beginning of this work and then the county take it up.

The final result was that this suggestion was referred to the public works committee.

After transacting routine matters the board adjourned.

Elberton, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The county executive committee, of which L. M. Heard, is chairman, met and decided to call a primary for county offices for May 5. All the candidates and people generally seemed to want an early primary. The primary for state officers will be held when ordered by the state committee.

STATUE OF LEE ANGERS G. A. R.

Blue Veterans Still Hate Southern Soldiers.

Massachusetts G. A. R. Adopts Resolutions Saying Statue of Lee Is Insult to Memory of Federal Soldiers and Asking Congress to Remove It.

Boston, April 6.—The Massachusetts members of the Grand Army of the Republic assembled here today for their annual encampment unanimously voiced a protest against the placing in the national house of representatives of a statue of General Robert E. Lee, clothed in the uniform of a confederate general and petitions congress for its removal.

Parker Attacks Lee.

Retiring Departmental Commander John L. Parker was enthusiastically applauded when he gave full expression to his feelings on the subject.

"It would be an insult to the memory of the men who gave their lives for their country," he said, "and the union veterans who have survived the war and who still cherish a love for the flag they fought under, to place the statue of Robert E. Lee in the full uniform of a rebel general in the hall of fame if it would teach the coming generations that the man who fought to destroy his country deserves the highest honors the nation can bestow."

"Virginia has passed over men like Jefferson, Marshall, Monroe and Scott and set up in the Statuary Hall the figure of Lee, not as a citizen, but in the uniform of a confederate general," added the commander.

Says Lee Was Not a Citizen.

The resolution on the subject which was adopted, said that after full investigation it had been determined that as Robert E. Lee never accepted the terms of amnesty offered by General Grant, he died not a citizen of the United States and that his statue, therefore, had no right in the hall of honor.

Mrs. Allison's skull was crushed. The sheriff has gone to the farm with bloodhounds.

FOR SCARING BLIND MARE RAILROAD NOT TO BLAME

So Rules Court of Appeals in Case Decided Wednesday Morning.

If a blind mare, feeding quietly in a pasture, is suddenly terrified by the shriek of a railroad engine's whistle and dashes frantically into a ditch and breaks her leg, that isn't the fault of the railroad company.

So rules the court of appeals in a decision handed down yesterday in the case of Roberts against the Louisville and Nashville railroad, brought up from the superior court of Gilmer county.

The evidence showed that the mare had to be killed as the result of her leap into the ditch, and Roberts, alleging that the engineer shouldn't have blew his whistle so as to frighten the mare, sued for $50 damages and the jury gave him a verdict for $40.

The court holds that there is no evidence showing that the engineer blew his whistle for the purpose of making the mare run away and that it amounted to contributory negligence, anyhow to put a blind mare in a pasture with a railroad running through it when the owner knew that she was afraid of a train and its whistle. The judgment was reversed.

Thousands Wake Up Today With Undigested, Fermenting Food in Their Stomachs.

Stomach fermentation is caused by undigested food in the stomach. Poisonous gases arise from this food. They gradually permeate the entire system, poison the blood, deaden the nerves, reduce the body until the patient is literally a walking skeleton. The effect of dyspepsia and indigestion upon the system is well known.

There is a remedy—a natural one—that will digest the food that your stomach cannot. It will not only digest all this food lying like lead on your stomach, but will destroy all poisonous stomach gases, tone and strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles, create a natural, healthy appetite. Such a remedy is Digestit, which can be obtained of any druggist at 50 cents a package.

A couple of tablets after a heavy meal will quickly relieve that full and nauseating sensation, will make you forget that you own a stomach. Druggists are informed to refund the 50 cents if Digestit fails. Sold and guaranteed by W. L. Brown Company, Jackson, Miss.

NEW SCANDALS ARE UNEARTHED

More New York Solons Shown as Grafters.

Broker Cunningham Gives Evidence Regarding Payment of Large Sums to Legislators. Legislator Bedell Was Given $9,000 in One Case.

New York, April 6.—William H. Hotchkiss, state superintendent of insurance, hoping to throw more light on the acceleration of insurance legislation through the accounts of Ellingwood & Cunningham, a brokerage firm, which failed in 1904, with the names of several legislators on its books, uncovered today a new trail at a brief session of the fire insurance inquiry.

He discovered that substantial sums, according to the records of this concern, had been credited to various members of the legislature between 1900 and 1904, at times when bills affecting New York transportation companies were up for consideration at Albany. The only legislator whose name was disclosed, however, was that of Louis Bedell, formerly an assemblyman from Goshen, N. Y.

Solon's Name in Limelight.

James W. Cunningham, a former member of the brokerage firm, was the only witness of the day. On the advice of counsel he declined to produce the full accounts of his company, but before he had reached this decision he had turned over to Mr. Hotchkiss accounts sufficient to throw Bedell's name into the limelight. They showed that Tracy Rogers, a former silent member of the firm, and reputed legislative agent of certain transportation interests several years back, had placed money to the former assemblyman's credit on the firm's books. Rogers, who lives at Binghamton, N. Y., is being sought by subpoena servers.

The records as produced show that when the firm failed in 1904 Bedell was in its debt more than $7,000, and Cunningham, the witness, testified that insofar as he knew, the obligation had never been discharged. Under date of May 1, 1901, there was an entry on the firm's books labelled "cash, special accounts, $3,500." The witness said that was Bedell's account. Two days after this the records showed that Rogers placed a check for $2,500 to Bedell's account, while in that same month 500 shares of New York transportation stock were sold for him at $7,000.

$9,000 Bedell's Account.

On April 23, 1901, the day the legislature adjourned, "some one," as Mr. Hotchkiss put it, deposited $9,000 with the firm to Bedell's credit. Other entries showed many payments to and withdrawals from Bedell's account up to 1904, when the firm failed.

His account, however, appeared to relate wholly to transportation matters and had nothing to do with insurance.

Records of legislature show that on March 16, 1900, Senator Louis F. Goodsell introduced a bill which conferred a valuable franchise on the New York Electric Vehicle Company, since taken over by the Metropolitan Securities Company. It was put through both houses under suspension of the rules. Mr. Bedell, according to the record, made the necessary motion in the house on which the bill was finally passed in that branch.

CRITICISE BONAPARTE FOR ENTERING THE CASE

Negro Attorneys for Franklin Object to Injection Race Question.

Manning, S. C., April 6.—Declaring that "if the Franklin case works any credit to the defendant, Franklin, and to the negro race, it will be the work of two negro lawyers," John Adams, one of the original attorneys for Pink Franklin, today issued a statement in which he criticised Mr. Bonaparte's appearance in the case of the negro to be argued before the supreme court of the United States. Adams, one of the negro lawyers referred to, says that the case has not been turned over to Mr. Bonaparte, and that the former attorney general's submission of a brief in Franklin's appeal to the supreme court is "the work of a few hot-headed negroes of Philadelphia, who have absolutely no authority to take such a step in the case."

He criticises the injection of the race question into Mr. Bonaparte's brief, and says that he and his associate, Jacob Moorer, wish nothing of this sort.

Franklin was convicted of murder in this state and his case was appealed to the supreme court of the United States by Adams and Moorer.

WANTS TICKETS SOLD TO COLLEGE PARK

Railroad Commission Hears Complaint By Gaston Against A. & W. P.

The railroad commission yesterday morning heard argument on the petition of R. B. Gaston that the Atlanta and West Point railroad be required to sell tickets to College Park on the accommodation coming into Atlanta every morning, instead of compelling passengers to pay the additional fare of 16 cents to Atlanta.

The petition alleged that the company declined to sell tickets to College Park because it wishes to avoid competition with the street car line to that point and that persons whose destination is College Park are forced to pay the additional fare to Atlanta.

C. A. Wickersham, president of the company, stated that his line is forced to take that action because many passengers, bound for Atlanta, buy tickets to College Park, take the street car from that point to Atlanta and save the difference of 11 cents. He said the train is now operated at a loss and that it cannot afford to compete with the trolley company.

After the argument the commission took the case under consideration.

N. & W. Announces Increase.

The raise does not apply to employees who have recently been granted increases. Firemen, engineers and telegraph operators have within the last several weeks been given 5 per cent advances.

Plans for Depot Approved.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—(Special.)—The railroad commission of Alabama has approved the plans submitted by the Western Railroad of Alabama for the erection of depot at Lanett, across the river from West Point, Ga. The commission fixed as location for the depot the foot of Bluffton street, and issued an order commanding the railroad to begin the work within sixty days. The case was reached through a citation on the part of the commission to the railroad company, in which the company was requested to show cause why a freight and passenger depot should not be erected, and show cause why all passenger trains should not stop at Lanett.

1,000 DAUGHTERS ADDED TO ROLLS

This Accession Breaks Record for the D. A. R.

Washington, April 6.—(Special.)—The Daughters of the American Revolution national board at its meeting this morning admitted 1,000 new daughters which represented the membership gain in the past two months. This accession of members is said to break the record, and shows the interest being taken in the convention of the Daughters which meets in Washington on April 18.

Mrs. Mathew T. Scott, the president general, will leave Washington in a few days to be away until the day the convention meets. She will relinquish all business for that time and take a complete rest. If she is disturbed over the rumors that a movement will be made to impeach her at the approaching convention for her action in regard to the dismissal of Miss Agnes Gerald, without the approval of the national board, she knows no sign of it.

To an interviewer this morning she said the approaching convention instead of being one of the stormiest, would be one of the most peaceful and interesting ever held.

Despite Mrs. Scott's assertions to the contrary, the anti-administration faction of the daughters declares that President General Scott has overstepped her authority and disregarded the constitution of the organization in her dismissal of Miss Gerald, and that nothing can prevent the matter being made the most exciting issue to come up at the continental congress. Those who make the point that Miss Gerald's dismissal was unconstitutional assert that they will make a determined fight in the congress for the observance of the constitution and that the fact of their having a majority of sympathizers in the national organization will assure the indorsement of the congress against the stand they have taken.

CARTER TATE WINS FIGHT IN SENATE

His Nomination as District Attorney Is Confirmed.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, April 6.—(Special.)—The nomination of Hon. F. Carter Tate to be district attorney of the northern district of Georgia was today confirmed by the senate. Mr. Tate wins out after a long and trying fight. The attorney general and the members of the senate judiciary committee who examined the report of Inspector Ramsay on the work of the district attorney's office, said the charges made against Mr. Tate, so far as proven, were trivial.

After the nomination was sent in by the president, it was again held up at the request of Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, acting under a request from Representative Tilson, of that state. A subcommittee, compoesd of Senators Bacon, Dillingham and Sutherland, investigated the reason for this delay and found them to be groundless, and reported the bill.

In his report, Inspector Ramsay quoted Hoke Smith, of Atlanta, as speaking disparagingly of Mr. Tate's ability as a lawyer.

Mr. Smith, on telegraphic inquiry from the committee, denied this, and called attention to a letter on file which praised Mr. Tate highly.

DUPENY LOST LEG, BUT SAVED OIL CAN

Dupeny was traveling on a railroad tricycle on the Monroe and Lutcher Cypress Company's spur track, when he heard a log train approaching. He moved his machine off the track, but dropped an oil can. He proceeded to rescue the can and was run down by the train. The can was not injured.

DOES HUSBAND BELONG TO WIFE?

Novel Ga. Question Before U.S. Supreme Court.

Court Must Decide Whether Husband Is "Personal Property" of Wife and Whether Georgia Blow-Post Law Is Valid.

Washington, April 6.—Whether a husband may be considered the "personal property" of his wife, and whether the "Blow-Post law" of Georgia is constitutional are two of the questions at stake in the unique suit of Mrs. Josephine King, of Georgia, against the Southern Railway Company, argued today before the supreme court of the United States. It comes up at a time when the only bachelor justice of the court, Justice Moody, is too ill to consider the case.

The suit is for damages arising out of a railroad accident. In the autumn of 1903, Mrs. King, her husband, A. O. King, and her daughter, Miss Inez King, were riding along a country road in Georgia behind a mule. A high bank obscured the view of the tracks of the Southern Railway Company just ahead of them. As the mule got squarely upon the track, a through passenger train from Washington to Atlanta struck it and the buggy, killing King, and injuring the wife and daughter. Mrs. King got damages in the state courts for injuries to her person. She also sued on the death of her husband. It is this suit which was argued here today before the supreme court.

Contention by Railroad.

In the lower court the railroad company contended that the recovery in the state court for injuries to her person estopped Mrs. King from maintaining an action for the death of her husband. The circuit court of appeals for the Fifth circuit, in passing on the judgment of Mrs. King for $3,250 for the death of her husband, considered the argument by the rail-road.

"The contention is made that the injuries to the person of the wife and the loss occasioned by the death of her huband," said the court, "constitute a single cause of action and that separate actions will not lie. This contention appears to be seriously made, but in the practice and procedure of the several states it would appear to be a legal novelty without law or precedent. If it be conceded that the deceased husband was the 'personal property' of the plaintiff herein, then the contention would be supported by the decisions of every state court, but one.

"Where injuries to the person and the physical property of the injured party occur out of the single tort, then, and in that event, the tort to the person and the property constitutes a single cause of action, and as previously suggested, the same would be presented in single suit. This is the English view and the holding is the same in all American courts with the one exception. The declaration that the husband is the 'personal property' of the wife has not as yet received the sanction of court or text writers. The rule as to a single cause of action has no application where the injury is suffered in a different capacity or by different persons."

Personal Property Question.

The "personal property" question was dealt with by the counsel for the railroad in a brief in the case submitted to the supreme court before the argument today. The railroad's fight before the supreme court is on the constitutionality of the "Blow-Post law." At the time of the accident, the trial court held the railroad negligent because it was violating this law. So it became material for the railroad to show that the law was not valid.

The law was passed in 1852. "I have found nothing like it anywhere else," said John J. Strickland, counsel for the railroad in his brief. It requires a railroad engineer to blow his whistle from a blow-post 400 yards from every highway crossing until he arrives at the road, and to simultaneously check and keep checking the speed of his train, so as to stop in time should any person or thing be crossing the track on the highway.

The railroad contends that the statute imposes an unreasonable burden on interstate commerce. It is said, for instance, that it would require 12 hours for a train to run from Atlanta to Macon, Ga., a distance of about 100 miles, if the statute were obeyed strictly.

Reuben R. Arnold, for Mrs. King, claims that the constitutionality of the law was not attacked properly. Furthermore, if the railroads would avoid the consequences of the law, he says, they may eliminate grade crossings. He suggests that the law is a valid exercise of the police power and should be applicable to an interstate train, just as much as to a local train, because the one is just as dangerous to life and property in running over grade crossings as the other.

MRS. DIMOCK VISITS ATLANTA

In Interest of Washington Memorial.

In Company With Atlanta Women She Made Call on Gov. Brown Yesterday—She Is Being Pleasantly Entertained While in the City.

Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, president of the Washington Memorial Association, is in Atlanta in the interest of the proposed memorial building to George Washington. Accompanied by Mrs. Joseph M. Brown, Mrs. Landon A. Thomas of Augusta, and Mrs. Thaddeus E. Horton of Atlanta, Mrs. Dimock went to the capitol yesterday, where she met Governor Brown for a conference about the plans for the memorial in Washington city.

The memorial will cost about $2,000,000; and, though it has been talked of for many years, it has never approached a point where its completion seemed a matter of the early future. At present, however, circumstances seem in favor of the movement.

Mrs. Dimock is intensely interested in the plan and talks of it in a manner that attracts and holds the attention.

Mrs. Landon A. Thomas of Augusta, who is here with Mrs. Dimock, at the Piedmont, will probably be at the head of the movement in Georgia. Mrs. Thomas is a very charming woman, of broad culture, and her interest in the Washington memorial will awaken an interest in many other Georgia women.

While in the city Mrs. Dimock will be very pleasantly entertained. On Wednesday she was the honor guest at a luncheon given by Mrs. Henry M. Atkinson at the Piedmont Driving Club; and Wednesday evening she was entertained with a dinner party at the Willis Reagin home.

This afternoon Miss Sallie Brown will compliment Mrs. Dimock with a reception at her home on Peachtree road.

ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED BY VENERABLE JUDGE

Judge Crenshaw, of Columbus, Celebrates His 73d Anniversary.

Columbus, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—When you get to be 73 years old and can truthfully say that you never once wore glasses, and your handwriting is as clear and firm as when you were a frolicksome youth in the 50's and 60's, it would be a very unusual state of affairs, wouldn't it?

That's the record of Judge J. E. Crenshaw, a venerable Columbus magistrate. On the day that Judge Crenshaw became 73 years young he invited a few intimate friends to his home and he and Mrs. Crenshaw celebrated the occasion in right royal manner.

Judge Crenshaw scorns a typewriter, pushes a pen without a quiver or a bobble in writing his legal documents, and reads with interest and a tinge of amusement the advertisements of the optical companies.

COLUMBUS STUDENTS TO STUDY OWN CITY

Unique Text-Book Is Added to the Public Schools of Columbus.

Columbus, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—The study of another city has been added to the course in the Columbus High school. It is not London or Paris or Tokio, or even Atlanta, but Columbus, Ga.

Impressed by the fact that the High school boys and girls should know about their own city, its history, industries, commerce and possibilities, Professor Otis Morrissette, teacher of science in that department of the schools, adopted as a kind of Columbus text-book, with the approval of Roland B. Daniel, a booklet issued recently by the industrial department of one of the railway systems entitled "Columbus, Ga., the Electric City of the South."

The pupils will be urged to study the essential facts relative to their city, and to this end copies of the booklet have been distributed among them. There may be talks in the school, from time to time, on the subject of Columbus, Ga. If these boys and girls are not Columbus boosters when they become men and women, it will not be, indeed, the fault of "the system."

Supreme Court Convenes.

Fitzgerald, Ga., April 6.—(Special.) Superior court convened Monday, Judge U. V. Whipple presiding. There is a large calendar to be disposed of, and the grand jury, now in session, may add to it before they are through with their investigations.

Parish Priest's Advice Led to Her Recovery

Thin, weak or frail people—those who "take cold easily," should be prepared with Eckman's Alterative in the house.

Remarkable cures of even Tuberculosis (Consumptive) persons are often accomplished. For Bronchitis, Asthma and Hay Fever no more effective remedy exists.

Lacon, Ill., April 14, 1907.

I was troubled with Asthma and Bronchitis for seventeen years. After trying many remedies, Eckman's Alterative was recommended to me by our Parish Priest. I am now feeling fine. I cannot speak too highly of it. (Signed Affidavit) Anna Mae McEntee.

Eckman's Alterative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Atlanta by Jacobs' Pharmacy and other druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local druggists. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Phila., Pa.

BRAND OF GUILT ON BLACK TROOPS

Military Court Says Negroes Shot Up Brownsville

Court Also Finds That if Officers of Regiment Had Performed Their Duty the Affray Could Not Have Occurred.

Washington, April 6.—The military court of inquiry, during the last year, has been investigating the shooting up of Brownsville, Texas, finds that the evidence clearly sustains the charges that the shooting was done by soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry, colored.

The court is also of opinion that if the officers of the regiment had performed their respective duties immediately prior to the shooting the affray could not have occurred. Furthermore, if the officers had performed their duties immediately after the shooting, some of the guilty men would have been discovered. Fourteen men belonging to the twenty-fifth infantry are declared eligible for reenlistment.

Opinion of the Court.

As to the charges made by the mayor and citizens of Brownsville, Texas, the court is of opinion that:

1. The soldiers of the twenty-fifth infantry, stationed at Fort Brown, Texas, did on the night of Augusta 13-14, 1906, shoot into houses of the town of Brownsville, Texas, occupied by men, women and children, killing Frank Natus, a citizen of that town, seriously wounding the lieutenant of police, M. Y. Dominguez, causing him the loss of an arm and killing the horse under him. The court is unanimous in its opinion that the evidence sustains the charges.

2. As to the disciplinary aspect of their case, including the performance of duty by officers and enlisted men of the twenty-fifth infantry, garrisoned in Fort Brown, Texas, on the night of August 13-14, 1906, as measured by the standard in the army, the court is of the opinion that if the officers, noncommissioned officers and privates had performed their respective duties on the evening of August 13, immediately prior to the shooting affray, with appreciation of the obligations and responsibilities devolving upon them by the serious situation then confronting them, the shooting affray could not have occurred.

Could Have Found Guilty Men.

Also, if immediately after the shooting, when the men had been charged with the crime, a careful inspection of every man in the garrison, including his arms, equipment and ammunition, had been made, as was attempted at daylight, several hours afterward, some of the guilty men would have been discovered.

3. As to eligibility to reinstatement a majority of the court finds favorably as to the qualifications of the following men: Company B, twenty-fifth infantry—James A. Coltraus, Edward L. Daniels, Edward Warfield; Company C, twenty-fifth infantry—Robert Williams, Winter Washington, Elias Grant, John A. Jackson, Samuel E. Scott and William Van Hook.

According to the act creating the board of inquiry, the findings are final and cannot be reviewed by anyone.

Brigadier General Theodore Schwan does not concur in the second conclusion. Lieutenant General Samuel P. Sanger do not concur in the third conclusion.

The court adjourned sine die.

The court consists of Lieutenant General S. B. M. Young, Major General J. P. Sanger, Brigadier General Theodore Schwan, Brigadier General Butler D. Price, Brigadier General John M. Wilson and Captain Charles Howland, twenty-first infantry, recorder.

VETS OF LOUISIANA IN SHARP CONFLICT

They Cannot Agree on Day to Decorate the Graves.

New Orleans, April 6.—The placing of flowers upon the graves of confederate soldiers here today by cavalry camp No. 9 of the United Confederate Veterans signified much more than the tribute in itself indicated.

It marked another chapter in a story of conflict among the ranks of confederate veterans of this state, which has been attended by sharp discussion and some acrimony. General Thomas J. Shaffer, commanding the Louisiana division of the veterans, some time ago designated April 6 as Decoration Day. Previously, June 3, the birthday of Jefferson Davis, had been set apart as Memorial Day. Nearly all of the camps declined to make any departure from this date.

"There is at least one camp that is loyal to the Louisiana division," it was declared by members of camp No. 9 at their meeting last night, when it was decided to observe today as Decoration Day.

BLOODHOUNDS CATCH NEGRO MURDERER

Negro Was Shot and Will Probably Die of Wounds.

Norfolk, Va., April 6.—Thomas Noel, one of the condemned negroes who escaped from the Norfolk county jail March 30, was captured today in Drummond's woods, on the outskirts of Norfolk, after having been chased almost continuously for twenty-four hours with bloodhounds.

Before being taken, Noel was shot through the stomach with a pistol and a load of buckshot was also put in his body. He is dying from his injuries.

Noel was condemned to death for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Sykes, of Norfolk county, when the latter sought to arrest him for robbery.

Elijah Rouse, the other condemned negro, who escaped with Noel, was caught two days later. He will be electrocuted at Richmond April 25. A reward of $1,000 had been offered for the capture of the two murderers.

SPECTACULAR WEDDING FOR AN OLD BACHELOR

Kentuckian Hires Opera House For the Ceremony.

Catlettsburg, Ky., April 6.—Anticipating that his wedding on April 24 will be regarded as something of an event, as he has been a bachelor during the sixty-four years of his life, has held office in the county for many years, helped to lay out and found the town of Ashland and knows every man, woman and child in the neighborhood for miles around, Ben Nicholson has hired the Ashland opera house for the happy event. If there is not adequate space to accommodate the crowd, he has announced he will give a matinee the following day.

The prospective bride is a popular woman of Ashland. She is 52 years old.

Prepare for Commencement.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE FOR EX-PRESIDENTS

Widows of Ex-Presidents May Also Send Mail Free.

Washington, April 6.—Ex-President Roosevelt and all other ex-presidents of the United States or their widows will be granted the franking privilege for mail during their lifetime under the terms of a bill passed by the house today by a vote of 120 to 76.

The measure met some opposition on the democratic side.

An amendment by Mr. Sisson, of Mississippi, excluding from the franking privilege all political correspondence, was defeated 44 to 86.

"Knowing the ex-president as well as we do," shouted Mr. Rucker, of Colorado, "we should provide an additional appropriation for the postoffice service."

Mr. Sisson also failed in an attempt for the recommitment of the bill with instructions to the committee on postoffices and post roads to report the measure with an amendment excluding political correspondence from the franking privileges granted by the bill.

ATLANTA, GA., April 7, 1909.

Occasionally even cotton takes a drop too much.

"Taft's tariff." Does he like the fatherhood of it now?

At last the high tariff is brought down within striking distance.

The remarkable activity around Oyster Bay looks bad for Beverly.

Senator Beveridge still adorns the platform, but it is not that of his party.

Perhaps one explanation of late trains is that they are sidetracked for the spring picnics.

Dr. Wiley continues to tell us what to eat, but not how to get an airship and rise to the price.

At least it's something to know just why the trains are late enough to make the people rage.

Mr. Taft is a great hill climber, but how will he manage to scale that Indiana tariff mountain?

The G. O. P. would rather dodge the blazing comet than the blows which are being leveled at it.

Another good thing in favor of Halley's comet is that in these high-priced times it can raise the "dust."

The republican insurgents have pitched their warlike tents within the classic confines of the Hoosier State.

Since Roosevelt went to Rome, it has become a question just what Romans do when they are in Rome.

Teddy's first question, when he interviews Taft, may be: "Why did you permit my Ananias clubs to disband?"

As to the proposition to import African animals into the United States, the question arises: Are there any left?

A millionaire humorist says "a man can be happy over high prices." But he can't rise high enough to get over them.

The prophets that have long predicted the sudden end of the world now pin their faith to the tail of Halley's comet.

Reason there's a freeze in Texas is that Bailey isn't at home to make it hot for prospective presidential candidates.

One class the census will have some trouble in enumerating is that not filled these days by the discouraged demagogues.

Before we decide to question Mr. Roosevelt, it would be best to determine whether he's a former or a coming president.

The Indiana republicans are not the only representatives of that party who are trying to dodge the hard, high-hitting tariff.

In this cool April weather the optimists of the republican party can't afford to go about the country "clothed with a smile."

In regard to the freeze in Texas, Bailey, of The Houston Post, will boast that it is the coolest summer resort in the country.

The insurgents of the republican party will "fight the devil with fire," as they are tired of the task of painting him with whitewash.

THE DEL VALS AND THE TIPPLES.

As if invoked from the shades of the middle ages, the dim silhouettes of Merry Del Val and the Rev. Mr. Tipple travel grotesquely across the world-wide screen of the religious tolerance of today.

They stand as representatives of that obsolescent type found alike in the ranks of the Catholics, Protestants, Jews, Greeks, Buddhists and Brahmins—the religious "irreconcilable," the bigot shrouding himself in impenetrable medieval intolerance, while three hundred years in the distance march the hosts of civilization's creeds.

True hermits they are, dwelling in the wilderness, while in the busy theater of the activities of the races the modern, up-to-date man of the time practices and observes that tolerance which was the distinguishing characteristic of the gospel of the Nazarene.

It now seems that Del Val was really responsible for the indiscreet answer to Roosevelt's request for an audience with the pope. The Catholic "irreconcilable" drew the fire of the Protestant "irreconcilable," and the Rev. Mr. Tipple stretched his wings and crew so loudly that Mr. Roosevelt very properly turned the hose on him.

Much as broad Catholics, here and in Europe, may deplore Del Val's faux pas, they have the consolation of knowing that his intolerance was promptly duplicated by the Rev. Mr. Tipple, who, when opportunity offered to smooth over an embarrassing contretemps, chose to add fuel to the flames, venom to bitterness. Instead of disproving, he, in effect, justified the vatican's attitude.

Very properly, Mr. Roosevelt discountenanced narrowness of this description, as he had discountenanced the first offense.

In so doing he has sounded the keynote of the religion of the twentieth century, irrespective of sect or of denomination. And that keynote is breadth, forbearance as wide as the world, tolerance as ample and generous as human nature, charity as enclycopaedic and pervasive as the charity and the tolerance of the Galilean.

A few Del Vals and Tipples linger throughout the denominations. But they are exceptional, and in striking contrast with the militant tolerance that should characterize the religion of our day.

AN EPOCHAL EVENT IN GEORGIA METHODISM.

Methodism in Atlanta and throughout Georgia marked an epoch in its progress with the beginning yesterday of the series of meetings to celebrate the formal opening of the Wesley Memorial church, as well as the institutional features that make the church notable throughout the south.

From the time when, in 1903, the Methodists of Atlanta first conceived the idea of a church nobly planned upon institutional lines, until yesterday, the energy of the entire denomination in this city and, in a way, throughout Georgia, has been concentrated on an undertaking at once necessitating courage and devotion. The crusade received an irresistible impulse at a grand mass meeting June 16, 1907, when, following a series of addresses by high ecclesiastics from every portion of the south, the sum of $200,000 was pledged amid scenes of remarkable enthusiasm.

Less than three years after the authorization of the work, the church now stands virtually complete, its many departments and special features prepared for occupancy and administration by the high officials and the laity of this militant denomination.

Speaking broadly, the Wesley Memorial church and its institutional adjuncts constitute a memorial to the Methodism of Atlanta. Many Methodists of prominence, and many Atlanta business men, are entitled to large credit for instrumentality in materializing what at first was only an inspired dream.

But it is fair to signalize one conspicuous Atlantan, Asa G. Candler, for especial liberality and consecration in this movement that is to be epochal in the church's history. From first to last, Mr. Candler has been unstinted in his contributions to the enterprise, going over his stipulated offering again and again, and by the contagion of his example inspiring liberality in others. He has also been generous with his time and his mind, and every man and woman in Atlanta can testify to the value of both.

The Constitution congratulates the Methodists generally on a notable achievement. And it especially congratulates Asa G. Candler for the splendid liberality which has distinguished his attitude toward this great Methodist memorial.

MILWAUKEE'S MESSAGE TO THE COUNTRY.

By the largest plurality in the history of the city, and for the first time in the history of large American cities, the "social democrats," or, in brief, the socialists, have elected a mayor and council in Milwaukee.

If ten, even five, years ago the shrewdest political prophet had ventured to forecast such a happening, he would have been greeted with misgivings as to his sanity.

Today, while the announcement somewhat startles the country, it has long been foreshadowed by the creeping tide of discontent against the two old parties whenever they expressed their policies in machine rule or in disregard of the public will.

The result in Milwaukee may not be explained away by the large foreign vote. That excuse might count, if the margin had been one more narrow. But when the plurality over the regular democrats and the republicans is the largest ever recorded, then the most complaisant conservative cannot ignore the meaning.

Another feature, vividly prophetic as to national conditions and the wonderful evolution of national political sentiment, was that ALL THREE PARTIES MADE THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM A PART OF THEIR PLATFORMS.

Several years ago, when this political doctrine was born, as far as America is concerned, at Ocala, it was greeted with a national howl of contempt, as "populistic," "fantastical" and "impossible."

Today it is effective in many large and small American cities, and its principles, at least, are each year more universally applied in national politics.

It is, of course, difficult to phrase a comprehensive definition of socialism. Each man's conception differs, ranging from that of the conservative who holds socialists to be anarchists, to the politician who realizes that several of the policies today prevalent and impending were adapted from socialism.

A MEMORIAL TO GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Praiseworthy from a patriotic as well as a practical standpoint is a movement in behalf of which Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, of New York, sister of the late William C. Whitney, is now in Atlanta—an effort to erect and maintain in the national capital a structure to be known as the "George Washington Memorial," and to be dedicated to the interest of the nation's first president in the cause of education.

Both in his messages to congress and in his public utterances the spirit of reverence for education and the desire for its rapid spread were at all times visible. The plan, as outlined by Mrs. Dimock, for the Memorial Association, of which she is president, is to perpetually celebrate these constructive qualities in the "father of his country," by inaugurating at the national capital, which bears his name, a memorial which shall contain a great auditorium, rooms for large and small congresses, office rooms and students' research rooms.

All organizations, national, patriotic, scientific, educational, literary, or devoted to art or medicine, will enjoy the privileges of the memorial, whether in a body or individually as members. It is proposed to raise $2,000,000 for the building and an additional half million as an endowment for maintenance.

Inspiring to the patriotic instincts of both men and women is the energetic activity displayed in so broad and national a project by Mrs. Dimock. A woman of charming personality, endowed with splendid mental qualities and the most gracious manner, she can push the movement to success if anyone can. And in her laudable effort she will have the hearty encouragement of the people of Georgia.

To put the world in clover on the glad hills of "Hooray!"

Morning to the Good Times, and let 'em come to stay,

Morning to the Good Times, and as the old world rolls
We'll feel the sunlight streaming through the windows of our souls!

For the Good Times cheer the summer, and warm the winter's chill,

And when I think I hear 'em, they're far and far away!

OLD WORLD COURT GOSSIP

By Marquise De Fontenoy

(Copyright, 1910, for The Constitution.)

Sultan Mahomet's action in bestowing one of the 16-year-old princesses of the imperial family of Turkey in marriage upon Enver Bey is, although a great honor, nevertheless one which cannot be altogether welcome to this extremely level-headed young officer, who, now military attache of the Ottoman embassy at Berlin, is still regarded as leader of the military element of the Young Turk party at Constantinople.

In fact, Enver was the moving spirit and the brains of the military pronunciamento that extorted a constitution from Abdul Hamid, and which put an end to the rule of the infamous Yildiz Kiosque ring. Although the highest offices were within his grasp, and he could have had the portfolio of minister, or the grade of general, he declined everything of the kind, refused even promotion to a colonelcy, and returned to his post as military attache of the Ottoman embassy at Berlin, with his former grade of major.

Sultan to Give Him a Princess.

When Abdul Hamid attempted the coup d'etat last spring, which resulted in his deposition, Enver hastened from Berlin to Salonica, and assisted the generalissimo, Shefket Pasha, in placing Mahomet V on the throne, again returning quietly to Berlin as soon as his task was completed. In spite of all that has been said to the contrary, the Young Turk party still remains the power behind the throne, and the present sultan, aware of its strength, and of the fact that it is subject to the direction of Enver, even though he is so far away, at Berlin, wishes to assure himself against being deposed in his turn, by allying the young officer, in a matrimonial sense, to the imperial family.

When the sultan thus bestows a princess of his house upon one of his subjects, it is officially regarded as so great an honor that it cannot be declined under any circumstances, no matter whether the lady is homely or good-looking, shrewish or good-tempered, old or young. At the same time, Enver must know perfectly well that the men thus distinguished by the sovereign are always regarded with a certain amount of contempt by the people, and lose most of the prestige which they may theretofore have possessed. They are known as "damads," which has become almost a term of contempt.

Moreover, when a Moslem weds a princess of the reigning family, he ceases to be master in his own house, and even in his harem. It is she and not he who is supreme, and while she often may give him cause for jealousy, yet she will not tolerate any other wife, or even odalisque, in his seraglio. He is condemned to monogamy, in spite of the fact that the Koran concedes four wives to the true believer.

Severed Head of Girl on Dish.

The father-in-law of Khedive Tewfik, El Hamy Pasha, found this out to his cost. For, married to one of the most imperious daughters of Sultan Medjed, she took such exception to his having shown some signs of admiration for a young girl among her attendants, that one day she caused to be placed before him a silver dish, on which, when the cover was removed, he saw the severed head of the unfortunate odalisque. That taught him a lesson of constancy; and it has always been my conviction that if Khedive Tewfik was a strict monogamist, and was the most faithful of husbands, it was because his terrible and cruel old mother-in-law lived most of the year at Cairo, with her daughter, the khediviah, and that he probably feared that the latter might have possibly inherited some of the maternal decision of character.

Under the circumstances, it is easy to understand that, although the princess affianced by the sultan to Enver Bey is quite young, and is beautiful, the major has requested that the marriage might be delayed for two years, in order that he might complete his education abroad, and render himself more fit for the honor in store for him. In two years' time there is much that may happen, and before 1912 possibly he may be able to evade the projected matrimonial alliance.

He Fought Duel for Her.

General Fecia di Cossato, whose engagement to Mme. von Siemens has been officially announced at Rome, is a senator, and until last winter, when he retired, in consequence of having reached the age limit, was in command of the Ninth Army Corps, embracing the entire military district of Rome and of the surrounding country. He is a member of an old house of the Roman provincial nobility, commanded the grand maneuvres of the Italian army last fall, has had a most distinguished career, which commenced with the war of 1859, and came prominently before the public in connection with the duel which he fought about three weeks ago with the republican deputy, Chiesa, who had taken upon himself to denounce Mme. von Siemens as an Austrian spy without a vestige of principle, and as making use of her beauty and great fascinations to infatuate senile generals in order to extort from them secrets concerning the military defenses of Italy.

I have ere this had occasion in these letters to discuss Mme. von Siemens, whose large income, amounting to some $50,000 a year, bequeathed to her by her first husband, Werner von Siemens, should absolve her from any suspicion of being a paid spy of Austria. By birth she is Swiss, hails from the city of Berne, and as a young girl rejoiced in the name of Eleanora, or Nora, Fussli, her father being a well-known Swiss painter. Werner von Siemens, her husband, was the son of Charles Siemens, the latter being known as "the Russian Siemens," in order to distinguish him from his three brothers. Werner married in 1882 a Russian woman of the name of Natalie Gavrilouk, of Odessa.

Dissolved by Divorce.

This union was dissolved by divorce in 1874, and in the same year the Russian ex-Madame von Siemens became the wife of Baron Axel von Varnbuler, plenipotentiary of the king of Wurtemberg at Berlin, while Werner von Siemens bestowed his name and his hand upon Nora Fussli. When the latter became a widow, she married Freydoun Malcolm Khan, who was at the time Persian minister at Rome, and a son of Nazen Malcolm Khan, who headed the first Persian embassy to the United States, during the presidency of Buchanan. Freydoun Malcolm's marriage with Mme. von Siemens was annulled, after a year, on the ground that he had already a Persian wife living, and she thereupon resumed her previous name of Mme. von Siemens. Her one aim and object is to hold a salon, and to surround herself with distinguished people who would be subject to her influence. It is this ambition that has led to her being assailed by people ignorant of the sources of her wealth, as a foreign spy, the impression being strengthened when it became known that the late General Saletta, who died as chief of the general staff of the Italian army, had appointed her executor of his will, though not his legatee.

ROADS WILL NOT LOSE BY GRANTING STOP-OVERS

—E. V. Carter.

"I can't see," said E. V. Carter yesterday in discussing the stop-over question, "why the roads should take the stand they have in this matter. As I see it, even according to their own arguments, there is little chance of their losing anything directly or indirectly, and there isn't any question but that they would be benefited in the exact ratio that Atlanta is. The success of Atlanta, the development of Atlanta, anything that tends to help shove Atlanta to the front, must of necessity help them.

"To be sure there is a slight chance that the roads might lose the fare for a short distance, once in a very great while, but the chance of selling the unusued portion of a ticket, added to the fact that its sale is an open violation of the anti-scalper law, will deter the vast majority of the people from attempting to use the stop-overs here for the purpose of riding a few miles at reduced rate.

"In granting the stop-overs to other cities, the roads making the concessions did not figure that they would be greatly the losers, it would seem. And if this is true in other cities, why should it not be here? Georgians, I should say, are certainly no less honest than the inhabitants of other states.

"Atlanta needs the stop-overs; she deserves them, and I believe the roads can be made to see the justice of her requests in the matter. If they cannot, they are more shortsighted than my experience has taught me to believe them to be."

HOW NEBRASKA TOWNS VOTED FOR PROHIBITION

There Are 89 "Wet" Towns and 67 "Dry" Towns.

Omaha, Neb., April 6.—The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, in a statement issued today, says returns have been received from 135 cities and villages of Nebraska which voted on the license question yesterday. GOVERNOR AND STAFF WILL BE IN PARADE

Accepts Invitation to Take Part in Memorial Day Exercises.

For the first time in several years the governor of Georgia and his staff will participate this year in an Atlanta Memorial Day parade.

Governor Brown on yesterday accepted an invitation on the part of himself and his staff to take part in the Memorial Day parade, which will be held in Atlanta on the afternoon of April 26.

Governor Brown will participate in the memorial exercises to be held in Marietta on the morning of April 26, when the little brass cannon, which was captured at the military academy in Marietta by Sherman's army during the civil war, will be returned, but in the afternoon he and his staff will be in Atlanta for the Memorial Day exercises, and will be given the place of honor in the front rank of the parade.

The governor of the state has always been invited to participate in the Atlanta Memorial Day parade, but for several years past the chief executive has accepted a previous invitation to speak outside of the Capital City.

Lest Mr. Taft Again Forget.

(From The New York World.)

Mr. Taft told the 2,000 railroad employees whom he addressed at Worcester Sunday that "if there is any one thing that I hate it is sham, it is hypocrisy, it is fraud in representing a virtue that does not exist."

That is the common opinion of Mr. Taft's character, and that is why his defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff and extreme protection has been inexplicable to a majority of the American people. They expected Mr. Taft to live up to his reputation and show the same courage in dealing with tariff revision and stand-patism that he has shown in dealing with other questions.

How much more popular Mr. Taft would be if, instead of defending the sham hypocrisy and fraud of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, he had fearlessly vetoed the bill!

RAILWAY AND MEN IN A DEADLOCK

Southern Invokes Mediation Under Erdman Act.

Knapp and Neill Will Pass on Differences Between Southern and Its Telegraphers. Telegraphers are Demanding Increase of Wages.

Washington, April 6.—A deadlock having been reached in the negotiations between the Southern railway and its telegraphers relative to a new agreement regulating employment for another year, their differences will be submitted to Chairman Knopp, of the interstate commerce commission, and Dr. Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, as mediators, under the Erdman act.

When it became evident that the company and its men had failed to adjust the matters in dispute, the company requested federal intervention, the Order of Railway Telegraphers signifying its willingness to leave the matter to Messrs. Knapp and Neill.

It developed today that when a deadlock was reached in the direct negotiations, a vote was taken among the telegraphers on the road on the question of a strike. The telegraphers claim that a sufficiently large vote was polled to authorize a strike. No action, however, will be taken in calling out the men and tieing up the Southern system, pending the result of the mediation negotiations.

The operators demand an increase in wages and a number of changes in the rules regulating the conditions of employment. The agreement which it is desired to amend was terminated some time ago, by the telegraphers in accordance with a provision permitting its ending upon thirty days' notice by either party. For several weeks the company and representatives of its operators have been endeavoring to reach a substitute agreement, and have held numerous conferences without result.

It was said at the offices of the Southern today that the labor agreements with their other employees either had been adjusted or were on the way to satisfactory settlement.

MR. LITTLE IS LECTURING ON WORK AMONG NEGROES

Rev. John Little, of Louisville, Ky., gave the second of his series of illustrated lectures at the Jackson Hill Baptist church last evening to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Little's lectures are about his efforts in behalf of the religious education and uplifting of the negroes of the south. He is working under the auspices of the Southern Presbyterian church.

He is a good talker and his earnestness and zeal in the work he has in hand impresses itself upon his hearers. His lectures are illustrated with stereopticon views.

The Southern Presbyterians, in their work for the negro, have put into practical operation Christian principles through the labors of Mr. Little, who is superintendent of missions to the negroes. The lectures show the wonderful progress made in giving the gospel to the negroes through instruction given by white teachers and white preachers of the south.

Mr. Little is a southern man of marked intelligence and culture. He was born and reared in Alabama and was graduated from the University of Alabama and from a Presbyterian Theological seminary in Louisville, Ky. The public is cordially invited.

Beginning each evening at 7:45 o'clock, Mr. Little will deliver addresses in the following places:

FAVOR ABOLITION OF FLOYD CITY COURT

Commissioners Request Executive Committee to Call Primary.

Rome, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Strongly favoring the abolition of the Floyd city court, the county commissioners late this afternoon passed a resolution requesting the county democratic executive committee to call an election on the date of the coming primary in order that voters may express their wishes at the polls on the subject.

The grand jury has already recommended the abolition of the city court, and it seems to meet with favor among attorneys. The county commissioners pointed out that the expense of maintaining two courts is so heavy as to be a serious burden on the people.

If the court is abolished, Floyd county would be made one judicial district, and Chattooga and Walker would be put in another. Attorneys W. J. Nunnally, John H. Rees, Harper Hamilton and Walter Harris announced to their friends several months ago that they would make the race for the judgeship.

THEATERS

At the Orpheum.

Miss Lulu McConnell is without a doubt the headliner at the Orpheum this week in a bill of headliners. This dainty little comedienne is getting off somethng new and original all the time, and maybe she's not active? Well, a ball player stretching a two-bagger into three could not be more so. Maxim's Models are the greatest living statues ever seen on a stage. Jack Wilson and company in "An Upheaval in Darktown" are also great. Here's a laugh every minute for you. The other acts are also worthy of especial mention and on some of the other bills that have been seen here would be headliners.

Joseph M. Gaites will offer at the Grand tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday, with Saturday matinee, the musical comedy success, "Three Twins," which had a run of five months at the Whitney Opera house, Chicago, and one year at the Herald Square theater, New York.

"Three Twins" received the universal press indorsements on its opening in New York, which stamped it as a high-class attraction, Ashton Stevens, of The New York Journal, said "Three Twins" is a credit to Broadway.

VICTOR MORLEY,
Who Heads the "Three Twins" Company, Now Playing at the Grand.

There are more novelties in "Three Twins" than in all the other musical comedies combined—"The Dancing Yama Yama Chairs," the wonderful faceograph and the gigantic electric aerial swing.

Mr. Gaites has spared no expense in costuming this attraction, and the gowns are said to be the handsomest in America. The music is the most fascinating ever written, and the musical numbers are elaborately staged. The "Cuddle Up a Little Coser, Lovey Mine," showing the seven ages of cuddling, is the most pathetic stage picture ever produced.

The company is a tremendously large one, and is headed by Victor Morley, who created the title role when the play was produced in Chicago, and includes Bessie Clifford, Florenz Kolb, Eddie P. Bower, W. H. Woodside, Harry Hanlon, Albert Livingston, Frank Smith, Harry Johnson, Ada Bateman, Lillian Sadler, Minnie Allen, Helena Salinger, Ada Gifford and a chorus of sixty people. The orchestra is under the direction of Ivan Rudisill.

Making Big Hit at Lyric.

"The Wayne Company is making a splendid hit with patrons of the Lyric in the musical comedy success, "The Moneymaker." It is one of those nonsensical melanges of music, comedy and vaudeville specialties that appeals especially to patrons of the theater who want an evening of frothy entertainment. The company which Fred Wayne has gathered together is one of exceptional merit, and the chorus is certainly good to look upon and goes through its work with snap and vim. The week promises to be one of the most successful of the season.

"Two Old Confederates."

Polk Miller, the noted Richmond entertainer, is enjoying another remarkable ovation in the south, and from all appearances the reception to be extended to him when he reaches Atlanta next week will lack none of the enthusiasm shown by the large audiences that have greeted him in every city he has visited thus far.

As all men know, Mr. Miller is the best delineator of the southern plantation life who has ever appeared before the public, and the enduring quality of his popularity, extending through many years, is a subject for frequent comment by those accustomed to watch platform stars soar a while and then fade away, to give place to some other and newer one. In everyday life Mr. Miller is a prominent and successful business man in Richmond; on the stage he is the typical, genial entertainer and peerless yarn spinner. The south has been laughing at his antebellum yarns and stories for a quarter of a century and never yet grown tired. Associated with him is Colonel Tom Booker, Virginian, distinguished for many admirable qualities, but just now claiming eminence chiefly as a banjo picker from "way back." Both Mr. Miller and Colonel Booker are confederate veterans and they appear on the stage in their gray coats. It is rather a striking and unusual picture.

The following is the program that will be given at the Auditorium this evening as the closing number of the Auditorium Lyceum Course.

Liebman-David.

A beautiful wedding last night was that of Miss Beatrice Liebman and Mr. Edward E. David, of Wilmington, N. C., which took place at the Standard Club.

Miss Helen Liebman was her sister's only attendant and Mr. Joe Jacobs, of Wilmington, was best man.

The bride wore an elegant toilette of white satin, hand-embroidered, and her flowers were orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore yellow satin and her bouquet was of white roses with a yellow shower.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Louis Regenstein, the bride's brother and sister, entertained the bridal party at supper, and the dining room was brilliant in its decorations of white and green.

The tables were set in the form of a hollow square, the inside space filled with handsome palms, and the sixty guests were seated around it.

Pyramids of white flowers and ferns decorated the tables, white tulle was drawn from the chandelier in the center to the corners, and all the color details carried out an effective combination of green and white.

The reception rooms were tastefully decorated with foliage plants and white flowers, and an orchestra provided music.

Mrs. Regenstein was gowned in rose colored satin and lace. Mrs. E. J. Bowles, another sister of the bride, wore lavender satin.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. A. David and Mrs. Stein, of Wilmington, the groom's father and sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Myer Frank, of Richmond. Mrs. Stein wore black satin and laces; Mrs. Frank wore black satin.

Mr. and Mrs. David went to Canada on their wedding trip and they will make their home in Wilmington.

A pretty dinner last night was that given by Mr. Willis Ragan in compliment to Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, of New York, and Mrs. Landon Thomas, of Augusta, at his home on Peachtree street.

The table centerpiece was a star of violets, and there was artistic suggestion of spring in the yellow candle shades and other details in violet and yellow.

Mr. Ragan's guests were Mrs. Dimock, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Thaddeus E. Horton, Miss Jennie Gibbs, General and Mrs. Mills, Mrs. J. R. McKeldin, Mr. Frank Ellis, Judge Henry Lumpkin, Mr. Fulton Colville, Mr. Alex Stephens.

DRAYS ARE STOPPED BY GIRL STRIKERS

Trust Unable to Ship Tobacco From Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., April 6.—The local Teamsters' Union today took a hand in the strike of the stemmers in the American Tobacco Company's factories here and prevented the removal of a large amount of leaf from one of the closed factories.

The American Tobacco Company tried today to move several drayloads of tobacco from their Thirty-first and Walnut street plant, presumably to the depot for shipment to Richmond, Va., when girl strikers stopped the drays and entreated the drivers to refuse to handle the goods. The drivers promised to take their teams to the barns after handling the first load and proceeded down town, only to be stopped five blocks from the factory by a representative of the Teamsters' Union, who ordered the drays returned with their loads to the tobacco factories.

There were several disturbances in the tobacco district during the night, but no serious trouble.

"I AM BONAPARTE! COMMAND REAR GUARD"

Such Was Order I. Wachstein Gave at Chatham Farm.

Savannah, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—"I am Napoleon Bonaparte. Marshal Ney, you are to command the rear guard."

So, frequently, has I. Wachstein spoken, according to guards at the Chatham County Industrial farm. With a huge bread knife stuck in his belt and with arms folded and head bent, he was accustomed to assume the conventional pose of the great French emperor. That is the reason he will be tried for lunacy.

Wachstein recently told Recorder Schwartz that he was tired of his trade and asked to be sent to the farm. He was given six months as a favor. A warrant charging lunacy has been sworn out against him.

FIRST USE OF ORGAN BY MUSIC FESTIVAL

Officer of Association Says Organ Will Not Be Used Until May 2.

The great $50,000 organ which is being installed in the Atlanta Auditorium-Armory will not be played in public performance before the opening of the great Music Festival on May 2, according to the assertion of officers of the Atlanta Music Festival Association. It appears that there has been circulated a report to the effect that the organ will be used in conjunction with the closing performance of the Lyceum bureau, which is to take place in the near future. The factory expert, who is engaged in attuning and installing the great instrument, informed an officer of the Atlanta association that he had been asked to have the organ ready for the Lyceum performance mentioned. An officer of the association says:

"Inasmuch as the organ was specially constructed and installed under special contract of the Atlanta Music Festival Association and is still under the control and direction of that organization, so far as its use is concerned, it is out of the question to even think of its being used until it is completed and before the association is ready to have it played. There isn't a chance for the organ to be played Thursday night, however, for even if the association was willing for it to be used it is not yet ready for use. M. Fertig, the special representative of the factory, who is installing the great instrument, is now engaged in adjusting its intricate parts and mechanisms, and any attempt to use it at this time would result in great delay and possible damage. Just take it from me that the organ will not be played Thursday night at the Lyceum performance. That's all there is to that."

MUST PROVE WHISKY WAS KEPT FOR SALE

Before City Can Convict—So Holds the Court of Appeals.

Three cases, two of them from the recorder's court of Atlanta, involving identical points in the interpretation of the city blind tiger ordinance, were reversed by the court of appeals in decisions handed down yesterday.

In each of the cases whisky had been found in the possession of the defendants, and the court had convicted them under the section of the city code which makes it unlawful for any person to keep intoxicating liquors for the purpose of sale.

The court of appeals holds that under the city code there must be evidence to show that the whisky is kept for the purpose of sale, and that the conclusion to that effect cannot be reached by inference or suspicion. The purpose of keeping must be shown by the evidence. In each case the court holds that such evidence was not produced.

The two cases from Atlanta were those of R. A. Chester and Andrew Daniel. The other case was that of Mrs. R. C. McLin, of Griffin.

JUDGE ROANE ATTENDED WOODMEN CONVENTION

He Is One of the Most Distinguished Jurists of Mississippi.

Hon. W. A. Roane, of Oxford, Ala., spent the day in Atlanta on yesterday in attendance upon the annual convention of the Eminent Household of Columbian Woodmen.

Judge Roane is one of the distinguished jurists of Mississippi, where he occupies the bench of the circuit court of Mississippi for the third judicial circuit, which position he has filled with remarkable ability and distinction.

In addition to his judicial honors, Judge Roane has earned more than a state-wide reputation as an unexcelled raconteur and as a skillful political leader. He is a candidate for congress from his district at the approaching election, and his friends are already claiming that his victory is assured. As a delegate from the state of Mississippi to the convention of Columbian Woodmen, he is allied with the anti-Frost faction, which gained a complete and sweeping victory under the recent decision of the supreme court of Georgia.

CLOCK WINDER 24 YEARS KICKS AND GETS RAISE

W. F. Bryan Was Paid $6 a Week and Now He Gets. $10.

After winding the courthouse clock for 24 years, W. L. Bryan is disgusted and threatens to throw up his job. His resignation was read before the board of county commissioners Wednesday morning and immediately those worthy gentlemen raised a howl. "Why, gentlemen, Mr. Bryan is the lowest paid and the most satisfactory employee in the service of the county. He has climbed that tower for 24 years and keeps the clock always in repair. I move we grant whatever concessions necessary to mollify Mr. Bryan, said Forrest Adair.

Mr. Bryan's chief claim was that out of a salary of $6 a week he would have to pay more than half for help. As this only amounted to $72 a year and about $45 was paid for expenses, in addition to the pain and labor required in mounting the stairs, he did not see that it was worth while.

Needless to say, the commissioners came across. Mr. Bryan's salary was raised to $10 and he will remain with the county in his old-time capacity.

TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS FOR 1910 CONVENTION

Executive Committee of Cotton Seed Crushers' Association to Meet Tomorrow.

Secretary W. M. Hutchinson, of the Cotton Seed Crushers' Association of Georgia, has issued a call for the executive committee of this organization to meet at the Piedmont hotel, in Atlanta, on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of fixing the time and place for the 1910 convention of this association.

For the past three years Atlantic Beach, Fla., has been the place and the time early in June. This year, however, the sentiment seems to be growing in favor of a new meeting place. It is very probable that the association will meet somewhere in Georgia this year, as it did when first organized. Mount Airy, Tallulah Falls, Indian Springs, Meriwether, White Sulphur Springs, Hall County White Sulphur Springs, Warm Springs, Tybee and St. Simons island are some of the Georgia points which have been suggested.

The south Georgia crushers are inclined toward the mountains, and it may be that the meetings will take place in north Georgia.

Those who compose this executive committee and are to decide these matters are Fielding Wallace, president and ex-officio chairman; L. A. Ransom, E. P. McBurney, L. G. Neal, J. Lovic Benton, E. L. Wilson and A. O. Blalock.

During the past year, under the administration of President Wallace, who served so efficiently for three years as secretary, the Georgia association has grown rapidly. It now has the largest membership in its history, over 200, and practically every cotton oil mill in the state is represented within its splendid ranks.

The date and place for this meeting will be awaited with keen interest by the crushers throughout the state.

VETERAN TELLS TRUE STORY OF BARBARA FRIETCHIE

"Who touches a hair of yon grey head
Dies like a dog. 'March on,' he said."
—Barbara Frietchie.

How many persons have read this and felt tempted to shed a tear themselves at the true nobility of the old grey-headed dame who, in the face of 10,000 guns, defiantly planted the flag of her country. The words are indeed stirring. They come straight from the heart of one whose name is written high upon the scroll of men who have done worthy things.

Every one is familiar with the story of Barbara Frietchie as it is told. How the Confederates came trooping down through Frederick town with everything bowing before them. All but one little house upon which was defiantly planted a United States flag; how Dame Frietchie opened the window and stood proudly beneath its folds; how the Confederate troops fired upon it, rendering it to rags only to see it caught up again by Dame Frietchie who called to them that to kill her but spare their country's flag, whereupon Stonewall Jackson stepped to the front and uttered the above words.

The poem is indeed a classic and is read with pride by every one who counts himself a man. But along comes Captain Frank Meyers, right bower to Arnold Broyles in the superior court clerk's office, who says that Mr. Whittier was misinformed and that there is far more poetry than truth in his song.

"The Confederates were in possession of Frederic Town and I was at the time a sergeant in the Sixth Virginia. As we passed the house one of the soldiers noticed the flag stuck up on the corner and called to me: 'Sergeant, let me shoot it down.' I told him 'no' as we had positive orders not to disturb a thing in the town. As we passed on by she came out on the porch and waved the flag at us. We only laughed good naturedly. Not one of us tried to bother her and it was not necessary for Stonewall Jackson to say a word. That's all there was to it—but you know a man can write a poem and establish a fact."

WENT TO COLLECT BILL AND GOT BLACK EYE

Ben Maxwell Tells Judge How Emery Sharpton Treated Him About Debt.

Wearing a black eye and scratched face, Ben Maxwell, furniture merchant at 129 Marietta street, told in the recorder's court yesterday afternoon or rough treatment accorded him by Emery Sharpton, of 14 Short street, Monday night, when he went to his home to collect a bill.

Both Maxwell and Sharpton were on trial under charges of disorderly conduct.

The bill was for a small amount and when Maxwell called at Sharpton's home for the purpose of seeking a settlement, the two men fell into a dispute which ended in a pretty display by Sharpton with his fists and feet. Mrs. Sharpton was present until the time licks passed.

"He cursed me out; he kicked me out," declared the furniture man, "all because I tried to collect a small bill of long-standing."

Judge Broyles imposed a fine of $10.75 on Sharpton and dismissed the case against Maxwell.

TATTNALL COUNTY GETS ITS TWENTY CONVICTS

Prison Commission Decides the Dispute Between Tattnall and Clarke Counties.

A satisfactory adjustment of the dispute between Clarke and Tattnall counties over the 20 convicts held by the former and owned by the latter, was reached in the office of the prison commission yesterday when Clarke county agreed to deliver the convicts to Tattnall.

The convicts were worked by Clarke county last year under special agreement with Tattnall, and Clarke county claimed that the agreement held good for another year. The prison commission took the opposite view and after some discussion the matter was settled with satisfaction to all concerned.

OLD VETERAN IS GIVEN A HEAVY SENTENCE

C. C. Daniel, Aged 70, Convicted of Selling Liquor on a Woman's Testimony.

Convicted of violating the prohibition law, mainly on the testimony of a woman witness brought from the stockade, C. C. Daniel, 70 years of age, a Piedmont avenue fruit vendor, was sentenced yesterday afternoon by Recorder Nash Broyles to pay a fine of $500 and serve thirty days on the public works.

Mrs. Cora Smith, a white woman now serving a stockade sentence for selling whisky, who lived next door to Daniels' little shack on Piedmont avenue, just off Decatur street, testified that she recently bought a pint of whisky from Daniel.

Detectives Bullard and Black testified to the finding of "twenty-one pints and a funnel" in Daniel's place. Daniel is a feeble Confederate veteran and lives on the river car line.

STATE SHY $20,000 ON NEAR BEER TAX

Up to March 31, $143,000 Was Received Last Year Against $125,000.

The state of Georgia is shy about $20,000 on the 1910 near-beer tax, as compared with the tax received up to March 31, in 1909.

Up to date the treasury department has received approximately $125,000, while for the same period last year the sum of about $143,000 had been paid in.

The tax is gradually coming in, however, and it is believed that when all has been paid the amount received this year will approximate the amount received from the same source last year.

EASY TO WIN BACK YOUR HEALTH

It is not a very hard task to get back to the "highway of health," provided you act promptly at the first sign of weakness or ill-health and assist Nature in every way possible. Then this calls for the friendly aid of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters immediately. Delay or experimenting with unknown remedies only aggravates matters, prolongs your sickness and makes it just so much harder to win back your health. Thousands of people, who know from actual experience, keep a bottle of the Bitters handy at all times and a few doses at the right time always wards off a sick spell. Try this plan today. It is excellent in cases of Poor Appetite, Heartburn, Belching, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness, Spring Ailments, Impure Blood, Malaria, Fever and Ague. Insist on having Hostetter's.

ANOTHER PHYSICIAN NEEDED BY SCHOOLS

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce Indorse the Movement.

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce held yesterday afternoon a number of matters of more than usual general interest were favorably passed upon. Since the directors last met twenty-four committee meetings have been held and from these seventeen reports making recommendations for the enactment of state laws, city ordinances, a number of other subjects were received.

Need Another Physician.

Possibly the subject of most general interest was the indorsement by the directors of the movement to ask the city council and the county commmissioners to appropriate sufficient money for an additional examining physician in the city schools and the employment of a similar official to work in the schools of the county. This matter will be brought before the two bodies within the near future.

The directors also heartily indorsed the report of the committee on roads, streets and bridges, in which it was recommended that the state legislature be asked to pass a law allowing county commissioners to condemn a road of more than 30 feet in width, also giving the county commissioners right to regulate automobile traffic in counties of 50,000 population and more.

The stamp of approval was also placed upon the action of the agricultural committee which is plannnig to have an agriculturist of note will address the farmers in attendance.

The work of the following other committees on civic improvement, water supply, taxation and tax assessments, education and automobiles, was also indorsed by the committee.

New Members.

More than a score of new members were elected. They are J. D. Cloudman, C. G. Ogburn, president Gibbs Gas Engine Company; Thomas-Small Investment Company, Electric Service Supplies Company, C. E. Watts, Benscot Lithia Springs Company, T. E. Gurr, Bainbridge, Ga.; The Rice & Hutchins Atlanta Company, A. L. Brooks, I. N. Brown, Emmett Hight, George Mau, J. D. Fleming, J. N. G. Mr. Taft recalled his stay in Augusta prior to his inauguration. He readily recalled Mr. Murphy, who was among the number who accompanied him to Panama shortly before he became president.

Mr. Murphy is a member of The Augusta Chronicle's staff.

S. J. Vaughan is postmaster at Augusta, but current rumor says that he will not be reappointed. Charges have been preferred against him. They have been investigated by an inspector, but the nature of his report is unknown.

STEEL VIADUCT FOR BOSS AVENUE

Railroads Have Agreed to Do All Work Required by City.

The construction of a steel viaduct, supported by concrete piers and abutments, over the tracks of the Southern Railway Company and the Western and Atlantic railroad at Boss avenue, which will result in the closing of the Bellwood avenue crossing, which has long been considered the most dangerous grade crossing in the city, will be begun as soon as the city is ready to do its part of the work, the railroad companies having agreed to do the work requested of them by the city.

The Southern and the Western and Atlantic will build the piers and abutments and construct the bridge span covering their rights-of-way, the city agreeing to close the crossing at Bellwood avenue and build the approaches to the bridge, acquiring such additional right-of-way as may be needed and to take care of any property damages that may result. After the bridge is built the railroads will keep the structure in repair so far as the iron work is concerned and the city will look after the roadway and sidewalks.

The Bellwood avenue crossing is the gateway to Atlanta from a large portion of the western part of Atlanta and Fulton county, in addition to which it is used by a great number of citizens of Cobb and Douglas counties in coming into Atlanta. The construction of the viaduct at Boss avenue will be a great convenience to all who have been using the crossing and will doubtless greatly stimulate trade and industries in that section.

Councilman J. J. Greer, of the fifth ward, chairman of the council committee on bridges, was greatly pleased with the prompt and satisfactory manner in which the railroad authorities cooperated with his committee in the negotiations looking to this great improvement, which means so much to a large and growing section of the city and county. Great credit is due Councilman Greer for the splendid manner in which he has handled this matter.

The railroads have expressed their willingness to go ahead with the work as soon as the city gives the word, but it is hardly probable that the city finance committee can find the money needed for its part of the improvement until the June apportionment sheet is made out. In the meantime council is going forward with preparations for the work. At the last meeting a resolution was passed for a charter amendment authorizing the closing of the grade crossing at Bellwood avenue, and all other arrangements are being made so that as soon as the money for the work is to be had it can go forward without delay.

CAROLINA WINS BACK OVERCHARGE

Whisky Concern Sends Check for $14,000.

William Lanahan Company Denied State Dispensary Was Overcharged, But Sends a Check for Big Amount.

Columbia, S. C., April 6.—(Special.) A check for $14,000 was received today by Attorney General Lyon from the William Lanahan whisky firm, of Baltimore, which did extensive business with the old state dispensary, in payment of an over-judgment found against the firm by the commission at its sitting last fall.

The over-judgment amounted to $23,000. The company had a claim of $6,000 against the state. This is wiped out in the agreement. The Lanahan company had appealed to the supreme court, but this will be abandoned, with the state $20,000 to the good on the deal.

Representatives of the Lanahan company on the stand at the hearing before the commission last spring bitterly denied that this state had ever been overcharged for goods sold. The payment of the $14,000 is an admission that the state was overcharged. The money was secured through the negotiations of T. B. Felder, of Atlanta.

WINDY WEATHER AFTER THE RAIN

It Blew 36 Miles an Hour, and the Gopher "Rubbered."

The most noticeable thing about the weather yesterday was the wind—a keen, sharp wind that blew in gales about the corners and swept mercilessly into the faces of the passersby. It cleared the streets of all loose particles of dirt, dust, and sand, and tried, with evident malicious intent, to lodge several tons of real estate in every person's eyes. None were slighted.

IT WAS MORE LIKE MARCH THAN APRIL.

The instruments at the weather station recorded a velocity of 36 miles per hour, the highest since March 7, but the records of the pedestrians set it much higher; and if a map had been made of the "atmospheric disturbances central above" the heads of a number of irate men who lost their hats in the wind storm—the map would have been worse than Mr. von Herrmann's daily bulletin. It would have shown sundry queer, wiggly lines where unprintable remarks of undue strength set the air waves in motion as pestered gentlemen set out to chase their headgear.

And the poor maidens—alas for them. It was a very wicked wind, of an investigating turn of mind. It crept softly under big rose hats and then tore madly at them, dislodging hats and curls; it frou-froued silken skirts and lifted frilly ruffles until neat ankles and dainty feet in patent leather slippers were enticingly exposed, but when the slim and angular maidens attempted to cross the streets, it chased them back again to corners where they stood and eyed with disfavor the antics of the wind.

And the Gopher, how he rubbered.

That westerly wind also brought cooler weather. The thermometer dropped ten degrees; and it will continue to get colder. The rain has passed over, and for the present there are no indications of more showers. The precipitation on Tuesday was only .09 of an inch—not much to speak of—but the werther man says that it will help the crops some, and it brought a decidedly pleasant change in the atmosphere of the city.

Today will be fair and beautiful, with a crisp, exhilarating tang in the air. Those in search of mild exercise will find a ten, fifteen, or twenty-mile walk into the country delightfully invigorating.

The weather man has only one word of advice—start early, and prepare to render excuses on the morrow for not being able to attend to your daily avocations.

Carnegie's Friends Uneasy.

New York, April 6.—The friends of Andrew Carnegie, who returned here last night from the west, were considerably perturbed today over his physical condition. At his home, however, it was declared that he was merely fatigued.

ROOSEVELT LETTER READ TO CONGRESS

Ex-President Tells of Specimens He Collected in Africa.

Washington, April 6.—Mr. Mann, of Illinois, presented to the house today a letter from the ex-president making a preliminary report to the Smithsonian institution.

"This collection," he said, "is undoubtedly the most complete and valuable in the world and will be of great service to naturalists and scientists."

Applause from all parts of the house greeted this statement. The cheers were interspersed, however, with laughter.

The former president did not relate any of his experiences in the jungle. He enumerated the total number of specimens as 11,397 vertebrates, consisting of 4,897 mammals, 4,000 birds, 2,000 reptiles and batrachians and 500 fishes and a considerable number of invertebrates, including several thousand plants, many marine and fresh water shells, crabs, beetles and millipeds.

Caddell Appointed.

Montgomery, Ala., April 6.—(Special.)—Governor B. B. Comer has appointed A. D. Caddell, whose postoffice is at Glen Allen, notary public and ex-officio justice of the peace in Fayette county.

MERCER WINS FROM GEORGIA

First Game Played at Athens.

Athens, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Mercer easily took the first game from Georgia this afternoon by a score of 6 to 2. In the face of terrific rooting by Georgia, Burroughs remained cool and pulled out of more than one bad hole, but was hit hard and often.

Georgia scored first, getting Beggs across in the second inning, when he and Taber singled, and Burroughs hit Lucas and walked Ginn. Mercer scored three in the fourth on singles by Hogg, Roach and a long fly by Suddeth. They added two in the sixth on Hogg's single, Beggs' error and Ginn's bobble. Three successive bobbles in Georgia's infield gave the Baptists their last tally in the seventh.

Georgia rallied in the eighth and registered one more, but Burroughs proved too strong.

BALL BREAKS INTO MAIN BOUT CLASS

George Ball, the local lightweight, has graduated from the preliminary class and is scheduled to make his debut into elite society when he goes against Mike Saul in the main bout of a boxing carnival to be held at the Armory Hall, on West Mitchell street, Tuesday night. Ball has proven that he's too clever for preliminary material around Atlanta, and M. Pries, who has re-entered the promoting game, has decided to give him a go with the Russian.

What this, his first appearance in a main bout, means to Ball is easy to guess. That he'll do his best—his level best, goes without say. It's also a lead-pipe cinch that he's got his work cut out for him in large chunks. Saul was recently knocked down by a middleweight in Athens, and he hasn't gotten over being mad yet.

Myra Price and Kid Duke wil make a stab at raising the curtain on the evening's entertainment. A crackerjack semi-final is being arranged.

YELLOW JACKETS MEET MERCER TOMORROW

The Mercer university baseball team will be in Atlanta tomorrow for a game with the Tech Yellow Jackets and also one on Saturday. This series should be one of the most interesting and the hardest fought ever played on the college grounds.

Mercer comes to Atlanta this season with the record of having one of the best college teams in the south and one of the best in the history of the institution. The men are trained to the limit, are in fine shape, know the game and have a couple of hurling artists in Burroughs and Voss that are second to none in college ranks this season.

The Jackets have been working hard since their Alabama games and have rounded into good form. Their work this week has been strenuous, and when they walk on the field Friday, they will do so ready to do or die.

TURNEY AND KITSON TO FIGHT NEXT WEEK

Young Turney, of New Orleans, and George Kitson, of Brooklyn, will meet tonight in the main event at the Monroe Athletic Club. These boys were scheduled to fight next week, but owing to the fact that Jerry Murphy has been suddenly called out of town the time of their battle has been advanced to fill the vacancy on the program.

Both of these boys are clever and the mill should be a good one. Kitson recently fought Johnny Coulon for the bantamweight championship of the world.

ED COFFEY LEAVES TO JOIN JACKSONVILLE

Ed Coffey, the first baseman of the White Caps, who has signed up to play first base with the Jackson team in the Cotton States League, left Atlanta yesterday afternoon to join that team.

Coffey is the best amateur first baseman in Georgia today and should make Jackson a corking good man. He hit .346 for the White Caps last season. Coffey will find three former Atlanta players on the Jackson team, Ed Landrum, Pete McLain and Young Rosner.

PLAY TIE GAME AT COLUMBUS

Most Exciting Battle of Season.

Columbus, Ga., April 6.—(Special.)—Alternating sensational stunts with bone-head errors, the Columbus Sally Leaguers and Atlanta Champs battled for eleven innings this afternoon in the first of a series of two games, neither side being able to break the tie made in the ninth by Atlanta. The game was easily the most exciting of the season here. A high wind swept the diamond during the early part of the game, making several of the errors excusable.

Harry Johns pitched first for the Champs and was hit freely during the first innings, then he steadied nicely and was working well at the finish. Griffin, as usual, played a star game. Hartley and McLeod did the bulk of the work for Columbus, and each one had one bad inning. Hartley was taken out in the fifth, with Sentelle at bat, after allowing two runs to be forced in by bases on balls.

The two teams meet again Thursday.

MOGULS INVITED TO PENNANT RAISING

No definite plans have been formulated for the raising of the pennant at Ponce de Leon one week from today, but invitations have been extended to President Kavanaugh and the presidents of the clubs in the league to attend and it is thought probable that some of them will be present.

The Chattanooga and Atlanta teams will participate in the pennant raising this season.

MATCH GOLF HANDICAP AT EAST LAKE SATURDAY

The "April Match Play Handicap" of golf, will start Saturday at the East Lake Club course. Two flights of sixteen will qualify Saturday afternoon, starting at 12:30 o'clock.

Other matches will be arranged by the golf tournament committee to be played during the month up until the southern championship.

THREE ATLANTA BOYS JOIN MERIDIAN TEAM

Roy Kitchens, Arthur Hull and J. H. Laird, all Atlanta boys, left yesterday afternoon for Meridian, Miss., to join Bernie McCay's Cotton States League team. All three of these youngsters should make good.

This makes seven youngsters from Atlanta who have gone to the Cotton States League. Quite a delegation, not counting Bernie McCay.

MANY PLACES OPEN FOR AMATEUR PLAYERS

The Empire Baseball Exchange has several offers for ball players. If there are any youngsters in Atlanta who believe that they can make good with an organized team, here is their chance. Confer with J. W. Heisman, president of the exchange.

SEVERAL COLLEGE GAMES SCHEDULED TOMORROW

Tomorrow will witness some mighty good games in the college baseball world. Besides the Tech-Mercer game at Atlanta, Georgia will play Auburn at Auburn, Trinity will play Clemson at Clemson, and Sewanee meets the Southwestern Presbyterian university at Sewanee. These teams also meet on Saturday. Vanderbilt will play Cumberland on this latter date.

TECH HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS G. M. A.

By Howell Foreman.

In a closely contested pitchers' duel the Technological High School nine outpointed the team representing the Georgia Military academy, by the score of 2 to 1, on the Marist diamond.

"Gene" Smith, of the High School, and McKenzie, of the Cadets' school, were the two young slab artists, who engaged in the contest. Smith allowed one hit and one run, and McKenzie gave up two hits and two runs.

The high school bunch pushed both of their points over the pan in the opening inning. Blodgett, who is quite a second "Ginger" Winters at getting his base on balls and being hit, waited for four bad ones, but was thrown out on first by the pitcher. Thomas grounded out to first. Then it was, when with two down, that T. H. S. boys scored.

The next game which the Tech High School will play, will be with the Boys' High School, next week.

MARKETS

SHARP RALLY MADE IN THE COTTON MARKET

Bull Support and Covering. Highest Prices Made Late in the Day.

New York, April 6.—There was a sharp rally in today's cotton market as a result of renewed bull support and covering, with May contracts selling at 14.57, or 34 points above the closing figures of yesterday and 58 points above the low level reached on the big break of yesterday afternoon. The highest prices were reached late in the day, and the market closed firm at a net gain of 10@32 points, or at practically the best.

The opening was steady at an advance of 15 points on May and of 5@7 points on later months, in response to better cables than expected and a continuation of yesterday's late buying movement. During the early trading, the bull leaders seemed to be giving the market no support, and while there was considerable buying by trade interests, prices gradually eased off to within 5 points of last night's close for May and to about the closing figures of yesterday for the later months. This reaction was attributed to local bear pressure and scattering liquidation, as there was nothing to indicate any renewal of the heavy selling that was attributed to the bull leaders yesterday, and during the middle of the day the market firmed up on reports that the lower prices were attracting a better trade demand for spots. Wall street houses became quite heavy buyers, there was active covering and in the late trading there was a renewal of support from southern bull leaders, while the increasing May premium suggested that the concentrated long interest in the near months had not been forced out on the decline of the previous day. Southern spot markets officially reported early were ⅛@¼c net lower. Clearing weather was reported in the south. The spot sales in Liverpool were a factor on the early advance, but later private cables stated that part of the business represented purchases for shipment to New York.

Receipts at the ports today 15,052 bales, against 17,048 last week and 11,985 last year. For the week 75,000 bales, against 93,376 last week and 93,781 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 7,953, against 5,555 last year, and at Houston 979, against 4,829 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 20 points higher; middling uplands 14.85; middling gulf 15.10; sales 211.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, April 6.—Spot cotton market lower to sell; quotations unchanged; middling, 14 11-16; sales on the spot, 245 bales; to arrive, 675; low ordinary, 11¼, nominal; ordinary, 12 1-6, nominal; good ordinary, 13⅛; strict good ordinary, 13⅜; low middlingdling, 14 11-16; strict middling, 14⅜; good middling, 15 1-16; strict good middling, 15¼; middling fair, 15⅜; middling fair to fair, 15¾; fair, 16⅛, nominal; receipts, 7,953; stock, 150,285.

Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 6 to 7 points on the old crop months and one point on the new. Liverpool stood much higher than expected and the rise on the opening was not a good response; prices were held down by general selling, which was based on the growing conviction that the May deal in New York is off and that the new crop will be planted under favorable conditions. The weather map showed dry weather in the western cotton belt and rains in the eastern, just what was desired. Farmers in the west will now have an opportunity to complete their planting and this fact kept the new crops down in the early trading. At the end of the first half hour of business, shorts took profits and their buying was sufficiently large in volume to put the old crops 8 to 13 points over yesterday's closing and the new crops 6 to 7 points over.

Toward the middle of the morning, short selling was renewed, on the forecast for fair weather which the trade considered would give planters opportunity for completing their seeding. This selling caused prices to break 8 to 13 points from the highest prices of the morning. On the decline, the market acted oversold and toward noon the tone became steady with offerings from the short side limited. At noon the market was dull and shorts were the chief buyers. Prices stood 8 to 7 points over yesterday's closing.

In the afternoon session, the market wore a sold-out appearance and prices advanced to new high levels for the day on a good demand for shorts, some of whom were realizing profits, but not a few of whom, being recent sellers, were covering against losses. The closing was steady at a net advance of 21 to 24 points on the old crops and 9 to 11 on the new. Final prices were within 1 to 3 points of the highest.

Dry Goods.

New York, April 6.—Uncertainty as to styles is causing some delay in the placing of orders on silk piece goods for fall. Cotton goods were quiet for the day. Yarns ruled dull. Knit goods are in very light request.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, April 6.—Manchester appeared in Liverpool as a large buyer, taking from that market more cotton today than at any time since the first of January. Such action on the part of spinners confirms the reports of good trade in Lancashire, of which we have been receiving many advices. Europe also appeared as a buyer during the opening hour, and at the close of business. We hear of a little demand at the mills here; the first for several months, probably due to the indications of a larger wheat crop stimulating interior buyers. The market recovered nearly the entire decline of yesterday with a rather better feeling in the trade, which will continue if Liverpool gives support tomorrow.

Argo, Jester & Co.

New York, April 6.—The market was less excited but continued nervous and irregular, with sharp rallies from time to time, which were generally lost quickly. Shorts were the chief buyers, taking profits on sales made earlier in the week and bulls appeared to be doing very little. Liverpool continues to send bullish cables, and spot sales there were large, though it was reported that a considerable portion of these were for shipment to New York. The south reported more demand also for spots at the decline. On the whole, the market showed a good undertone, though sentiment continues bearish and traders are watching closely for signs of renewed liquidation, as they feel that the continued premium on May indicates that only the trailing longs have sold out. The short interest in new crops appears to be increasing and any unfavorable news from the crop would carry those options much higher. The market closed strong at the top.

Liverpool is due to open 4 to 13 points higher.

Metals.

New York, April 6.—The market for standard copper was weak today with spot and all deliveries up to the end of July quoted at $12.70@$12.90. The English market was higher with spot quoted at £56, 2s, 6d and futures at £59, 5s. Custom house returns showed exports of 355 tons for the day, making 1,300 so far this month. Local dealers quote lake copper at $13.25@$13.50; electrolytic at $13.00@$13.25, and casting at $12.75@$13.00.

Tin was irregular with spot quoted at $32.95@$33.10; April, $32.80@$32.90; May, $32.85@$33.15; June, $32.92@$33.15; July, $33.05@$33.25. The London market was slightly higher with spot quoted £150 and futures £152, 2s, 6d.

Lead was dull, with spot quoted at $4.40@$4.45, New York; $4.30@$4.35, St. Louis. London was unchanged at £12, 13s, 9d. Spelter unchanged; spot, $5.55@$5.65 New York; $5.37½@$5.47½, East St. Louis. The London market was unchanged at £23.

The English iron market was unchanged at 51s, 4½d for Cleveland warrants. Locally the market was steady. No. 1 foundry northern, $18.00@$18.50; No. 2 foundry northern, No. 1 southern and No. 1 southern soft, $17.75@$18.25.

LIGHT TRANSACTIONS IN THE STOCK MARKET

Wall Street Discusses Financial Conditions Here and Across the Ocean.

New York, April 6.—The stock market today was narrow and thin and the motives prompting the light transactions were correspondingly obscure and, presumably, unimportant as a reflection of any happenings in the outside world. A strong contrast is presented in conditions existing in the London market and here. In the former, an unbridled speculation is going on side by side with a state of disorder in the finances, unparalleled in any recent history. In New York, on the contrary, the depletion of bank reserves by gold exports is viewed with entire indifference and without any demand for speculative use to exercise a check on the outward flow of the precious metal. Much surmise is expended to find a plausible explanation for the anomalous conditions. One preferred explanation is that an understanding and agreement exists amongst the leading banking authorities at all the great financial capitals to cooperate for safeguarding the threatening position in London. It is for this reason, as supposed, that New York bankers perceive the shipments of gold to London with equanimity, relying on the reflected benefit to come to the New York market by the relief of the London position. The contradictions in the London situation are attributable to the fact that tax money, left uncollected by the failure to enact the government budget, lies in the private London banks and serves to stimulate the wild speculation in rubber shares. The unstable wavering of the rubber shares for two days past, under a process of attempted realizing, points to the vulnerable spot which causes anxiety in London. From Paris, on the other hand, comes the intimation that the tightening of the purse strings of the Bank of France against the London demand is by express request of the Bank of England, in order to curb the rubber shares speculation. To reconcile this attitude of the English bank, with its payment of a premium over the market price to draw American eagles from New York, is a feature of the problem especially puzzling to New York observers.

Sales of exchange against the gold shipments brought down the price in New York today to a point that barred further gold engagements, even with the Bank of England's preferred premium still in force. With the engagements already made, larger than the actual existing surplus reserve of the banks in the weekly statement last Saturday, the call loan rate today began to show an inevitable response. The early average rate was nearer 3 per cent and later in the day the rate rose to above that figure.

Wall street keeps an attentive eye on the commodities markets. The crop promise, always of vital importance to the stock market prospect, has the additional importance this year that the credit position of the interior banks is believed to be largely committed to the holding of bills on old grain and cotton, which have been withheld from the market in the movement to bolster up prices. The Wall street banks, some of them, hold the opinion that the growing promise for the yield of the new crops and a decline in commodity prices would lead to extensive liquidation of loans on the old crop from banks throughout the country. The recuperation of the banking position in the country at large, which such a movement would effect, is believed to account for the tranquillity with which the apparent narrowness of the present money resources is viewed in Wall street.

Predictions of an increase in the dividend on United States Steel formed a lever for lifting prices in the early dealings, but a decline followed the rise in the call loan rate.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par values, $1,897,000. United States fours registered declined ¼ per cent on call.

Later dividend rumors helped United States Steel and with Wall street buying in the afternoon the improvement was maintained and the market closed firm.

Foreign Finances.

London, April 6.—The bank of England paid a premium of 1½d per ounce over the ordinary market price of 76s 4d for $7,500,000 in eagles recently engaged in New York for shipment to London, but the lower exchange this morning will probably prevent further purchase at present. Holland, however, is sending gold today. Bankers are inclined to think that no advance in the bank rate here will be made.

London, April 6.—Bullion amounting to £153,000 was taken into the bank of England today and £500,000 was withdrawn for shipment to South America. India bought £100,000 new gold, due to arrive here tomorrow.

WHEAT TAKES TUMBLE; CORN AND OATS FOLLOW

While the Decline in Pork Was Especially Heavy—General Liquidation the Cause.

Chicago, April 6.—Grain and provisions prices experienced a severe sinking spell today, inspired, to some extent, by the suspension of a prominent cash grain concern—the second one for the week. Pork was especially heavy, the price of the July delivery at one time being $1.32½ below the previous close. General liquidation, accompanied by heavy sales by leading bears, caused the weakness. At the close, wheat showed net losses of 1¼ to 1⅝c. Corn was down 1⅝c and oats off ⅝@⅞c to 1@1¼c. Provisions closed at net declines of 42½c to $1.32½.

The wheat market was extremely weak all day, and at the low point prices showed losses of nearly 2 cents, compared with Monday's final figures. The announcement before trading began of the suspension of a firm identified closely with the cash corn trade brought out considerable selling in all pits, although the pressure was especially noticeable in corn. A number of other bearish factors contributed to induce free offerings of wheat. Among these were additional showers in the southwest, sharp declines at Liverpool, poor demand for the cash grain, and the Ohio report, which gave the condition of the crop of that state at 83, compared with 92 a year ago. Prices at the opening were off ⅛c to 1¼@1⅜c, July being at $1.05⅝ to $1.05¾, and September at $1.02½ to $1.02. The tendency of prices was to sink still lower all day, although on several occasions slight rallies occurred on buying by shorts. The low point for July which was reached late in the session, was $1.04¼. September dropped to $1.01½. The new crop months rallied in the final half-hour and closed about ½c above the low figures.

Persistent liquidation characterized trading in the corn pit, and as a result of the selling pressure, the price of all deliveries dropped more than 1½c below the closing level of Monday. The closing out of accounts of a leading concern, owing to the suspension of the firm, was perhaps the most important factor in the situation, although the exceedingly slack demand for the cash grain prompted liberal sales. The price of the cash grain was off 1 to 2c. No. 3 yellow selling at 55½@57c. The May delivery sold between 58¼c and 59¾c. The market closed weak at almost the bottom, May being down 1¾c, at 58¾c.

Oats were weak all day, because of the slump in wheat and corn. Many of the leading longs sold freely and there was also liberal sales for short account. The range for the May delivery was between 41@41¼ and 42¼@42½c. The close was weak with prices ⅝@⅞c to 1@1⅛c below Monday's final figures.

The continued declining tendency of corn prices prompted free selling of provisions today, which resulted in sensational declines. Pork was the weakest on the list and declined $1.22½ to $1.32½ from Monday's close. Lard and ribs showed less radical losses. The selling was chiefly of a profit-taking nature. May pork dropped from $25.00 to $23.95 and the July option from $25.10 to $24.00. The market closed near the low point, final figures on the May products being as follows: Pork $23.95; lard $13.22½ and ribs $13.07½. The net loss on May lard was 47½c and on ribs 42½c.
